LABOR VOTE WILL START ON ISSUE SPLIT

Council Differs From Building Trades on Strike in Bay Cities

P. H. McCarthy Says Vote Sustaining Walkout Means Nothing

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—By a vote of 117 to 31 the San Francisco Labor Council adopted early today the report of its executive committee declaring the Pacific Gas and Electric Company unfair.

"What does this vote mean?" asked a delegate.

"It means," replied President Andrew J. Gallagher, "that every union man in the employ of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company will be expected to quit his job."

That such action will develop, however, was rendered problematical by the opposition of P. H. McCarthy, former mayor of San Francisco, and now president of the State Building Trades Council.

"This council has no right to declare a strike," he vociferated, "unless it has been sanctioned by the American Federation of Labor, and this sanction has not been forthcoming. This vote means nothing."

The division of opinion thus revealed is expected to go to Washington for settlement.

A vote was reached only after a stormy and protracted debate, which grew so heated that P. E. Zant, formerly secretary of the council, was

KEY ROUTE FILL TASK

United Properties to Begin Spending of $1,000,000 in Oakland Soon

Developing of Harbor Basin and Creating Solid Mole to Begin in 30 Days

Within thirty days the trustees for the United Properties corporation, one of the P. M. Smith interests, will begin the spending of $1,000,000 in Oakland in filling in and widening the Key Route pier and developing the Key Route basin. Contracts for the work have already been let. The Oakland and to the holders of the various Smith securities, this is the most important announcement which has come since the appointment of the trustees was made public.

Another significant development, which underlies the spending of this huge sum of money on improvements has been the perfection of the plan whereby the N. W. Halsey note for $2,500,000 which falls due next Thursday, and which has perturbed the Smith trustees more than any other single matter in connection with the re-financing of the Smith interests, will be renewed for five years. The plan provides for a refunding debt whereby this note and other outstanding debts to the amount of $1,500,000 for which the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railways were security, will be taken up by Halsey & Co. of New York.

DECLINE FOREIGN MONEY.

The Halsey note has been a most difficult matter to handle by the trustees. It has necessitated daily meetings in the offices of the Smith trustees in the Royal Insurance Building in San Francisco and daily meetings by a coterie of San Francisco capitalists and bankers in the offices of a local underwriting firm. It is known that offers of foreign

U. of C. Athlete Wins Mile Run at Madison

MADISON, Wis., June 7.—Lowering skies and chilly winds prevailed today for the thirteenth annual university conference meet. A cold wind swept Randall Field and threatened to interfere seriously with runners and competitors in field events as well.

"Scratches" reduced the fields in nearly every event. Indiana, Drake and Ames withdrawing all their entrants.

Thirteen men started in the mile run. J. H. Dupre of Ohio State took the lead after the first furlong and plunged to it until Thorsen of Northwestern caught him. The two ran step for step for 200 yards, when Thorsen stepped out in front and led until the three-quarter point. Then Wood of California shot into the van and ran away from the bunch, finishing 45 yards in front of Thorsen. The Californian was cheered lustily.

L. Shattuck of California obtained third place in the three-quarter mile, his distance being 124 feet 3 inches. H. M. Butt of Illinois was first, distance 127 feet 9 inches; H. K. Thatcher, Missouri, second, 126 feet 4 inches.

Modeen at Fiancee's Home; Denies Attempt at Suicide

ALAMEDA, June 7.—Ernest Modeen, the Oakland undertaker who was seriously injured a few days ago when his auto ran off a Piedmont grade, was up and about the home of his fiancée, Miss Emily Hogue, at 536 Pacific avenue, this morning. Modeen was brought to the Hogue home yesterday afternoon in charge of a trained nurse, having left the Roosevelt hospital before being thoroughly started on the road to convalescence. Modeen is still keeping silence regarding the real cause of the accident. Beyond stoutly denying that he did not try to kill himself and that only a "crazy man" would think of such an erratic and spectacular course, he has given no explanation of why the car suddenly left the road. At the Hogue home it was stated that Modeen proposed to make a detailed statement when his condition warranted. An immediate marriage with Miss Hogue is denied. The date, says the girl's mother, has not been discussed.

Charge Against Wilson Will Not Be Investigated

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Senators on the lobby investigating committee were of the opinion today that Senator Townsend's sensational charge that Wilson had been lobbying for the tariff bill, would not be taken up by the committee as an issue unless some specific charges were made. Senator

TRAIN HITS AUTO; DRIVER ESCAPES

Hurled 40 Feet Against Pole, Man Saved as by Miracle

BERKELEY, June 7.—Seldom does one not blessed with a charmed life survive an ordeal such as befell A. R. Ahlgren, secretary for the F. R. Peake building corporation, who was last night hurled through space for forty feet, dashed against a telegraph pole, bounced back again and turned upside down in his automobile as a result of being struck by a speeding south-bound Southern Pacific electric train at Ninth street and Dwight way. He escaped without even a bruise.

Ahlgren left his home, 2428 Ninth street, to drive uptown and was rolling along that thoroughfare until he came to Dwight way, when he decided he would turn and go up one of the side streets. Just as he was turning on the Southern Pacific tracks a Ninth street train suddenly loomed up in the rear and before Ahlgren could pilot his car off the tracks the train struck the machine on the left side, hurling it off the rails a distance of about forty feet. The mad flight of the auto through space was checked by a telegraph pole, which was nearly snapped by the impact. The machine rebounded and turned nearly upside down, Ahlgren crawling out from under the wreckage. The machine was almost a total wreck.

According to Ahlgren the motor-man of the train failed to blow his whistle. He states that he has several witnesses who confirm his belief. The police have not as yet been notified of the accident and the names of the motor-man and conductor of the train have not been learned. It is

Lund of San Francisco, her maid and a number of other guests were under medical care today. Milo M. WILL TRY INDICTED POLICEMEN JUNE 16

The Conspiracy Charges Against 8 Men to Be Promptly Pressed

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—The conspiracy charges against the eight policemen suspended at the beginning of the graft expose in connection with the operation of the bunco men in this city will be tried immediately in Superior Judge Lawlor's court.

District Attorney Fickert and his assistant Edward Cunniff were in court this morning and announced that all the indictments be set down for June 16 for trial. This was objected to by Attorney Thomas O'Connor, representing a group of the defendants, but Attorney O'Grady, who appeared for Detective Sergeant Macpherson and Policeman Charles Taylor, said that if separate trials were to be allowed his client would be prepared to go ahead at any time.

"I have an important case in Nevada City on June 24," said O'Connor, "and I could not possibly go ahead on the 16th. Moreover, the police commission has informed me that June 16 is the day set for these cases there and they declare that they will not allow any more continuances."

SOME WANT SEPARATE TRIALS.

Judge Lawlor suggested that all of the indictments be continued until Monday, at which time he will announce the date for trial.

TRACE MANY JOBS TO BAREFOOT BURGLAR

23 Thefts in Oakland Committed by Captured Thief

Burglaries in 23 homes in Oakland and several in Berkeley, Alameda, San Francisco and Los Angeles, have been traced to George W. Ward, the negro "barefoot burglar" captured by the San Francisco police Thursday night on information furnished by the Oakland department, according to a statement given out today by Captain of Inspectors Lou F. Agnew.

The burglaries in Oakland were committed since April 9 and in several instances as many as three or four thefts took place in a single night. Over thirty persons were made victims of the depredations of the unshod thief.

When given to understand that the police had evidence against him in a score of cases, Ward broke down and confessed. It is estimated that the loot taken from Oakland homes alone amounted to over $2000, although Ward obtained in many of his attempts almost nothing for his trouble. When arrested the negro had only a few cents in his possession, and he has since told the police that he gambled the money away at poker.

WITHOUT WEAPONS OR TOOLS.

No formal charge has as yet been lodged against Ward, but Agnew stated that he will select two of the strongest cases and file charges Monday.

Ward talked freely about his exploits after he had been induced to make the first confession, and told a remarkable story of adventures in Oakland.

The negro was apparently posing as a victim of the police.

'TIS WEATHER FOR AVIATORS, BIRDS AND PERSONS IN TALL BUILDINGS

"We've never had weather like this before."—Old saying.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—A surface draught is what Professor Alexander Mead of the U. S. weather bureau terms the gusty, windy weather which has been a recent visitor in the bay region. Moreover, Mead declares that it is this same breeze which makes San Francisco, Oakland and the other nearby cities so desirable to live in during the summer months when the interior and most of the country are sweltering in the heat.

"It is pretty warm in the interior," said Prof. Mead today. "The temperature should reach 90 degrees there this afternoon and these breezes, which surface draught breezes."

CORPORATION TO IMPROVE STREETS

Terminal Railway Advises the Berkeley City Council of Proposed Plans.

BERKELEY, June 7. — After many months of delay, the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal Railway Company has announced to the local city council that it intends to improve the city of Berkeley.

announcement applies particularly to College avenue, one of the principal thoroughfares in the city which has been in a poor condition for many years. The action of the railway company is the result of constant agitation on the part of the city officials. The council has repeatedly sent requests to the company, asking that it repair its right of way on College avenue and other places in the city. The requests have apparently been ignored until this week. At the last meeting of the city council, resolution was passed informing the company that unless city would begin suit to make the improvement compulsory. At the same time the city council passed a resolution authorizing the preparation of legal forms by which the corporation might be brought to terms.

The statement made by W. R. Alberger, vice-president and general manager of the company, ended the likelihood of a lawsuit. It was stated by Alberger that the inability of the company to secure necessary means of the proper time was responsible for the delay.

The improvements necessary in this city will cause the company to make an outlay of $750,000. It is stated by the corporation official that this amount was too great for the treasury of the company until a further loan was negotiated.

Besides the improvement of College avenue, the corporation must repair its right of way on Shattuck avenue, Ward street and Bancroft way and various points on Sacramento street. The city is at present improving College avenue and hopes to have the railroad company repair its portion before the main part of the work is completed.

General Manager Alberger will appear before the city council at its meeting next Tuesday morning and personally explain the future policy of the company as regards improvements.

BERKELEY HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES LARGE CLASS

PRETTY GIRL GRADUATES OF BERKELEY HIGH SCHOOL WHO WERE AMONG MANY TO RECEIVE THEIR DIPLOMAS LAST NIGHT.

BERKELEY, June 7. — "We look hopefully to a civic confirmation class like this to make co-operation, teamwork for the common good, a guiding principle for daily thought and action," declared Dr. Alexis F. Lange, professor of education and dean of faculty at the University of California, speaking at the annual graduation exercises held at the local high school last night. His subject was "Team Work for the Common Good."

One hundred and ninety-four graduates received their diplomas, this being the largest class in the history of the high school. They were presented by Principal C. L. Biedenbach and received their diplomas from Herbert F. Briggs, school director, who acted in that capacity. The student addresses were delivered by Doris E. McIntyre, who spoke on "The Educational Influence of the Children's Theater," and Edwin M. Elam, Jr., who spoke on "The Inner Harbor Project."

Both addresses were pronounced exceptionally good. The former gave many new and interesting features to prove the value of a theater for children. The latter had gathered many valuable facts and figures to add to the already large amount of material on the harbor project. He told of the many ways in which it would effect the future industrial and social prosperity of the city.

The address by Dr. Lange was one of the most interesting ever given at a graduation exercise here. He explained the necessity of team work in modern endeavor, likening the present day humanity to the football team, which he said must hang together to gain results. His address was to substance one of metaphors.

He said, in closing his argument for team work to bring about the common good, "We are here to be a 'good citizen' as long as he made money, and we did not see his hands in pockets. Fortunately, we are beginning to go better, and so we look hopefully to even a civic confirmation class like this to make co-operation, teamwork for the common good, a guiding principle for daily thought and action."

The program for the evening was as follows: Music, "The Chant of Our Hearts" from "The Chant of Our Hearts" by Victor Holland; high school orchestra invocation, Rev. Harry R. Miles, pastor of First Congregational Church; address, "The Educational Influence of the Children's Theater," Miss Doris E. McIntyre; address, "Berkeley's Inner Harbor Project," Herbert F. RESCIND LAW FOR WIDENING STREET

North Grove Property Owners Protest Against Proposed Improvement.

BERKELEY, June 7. — Residents of North Grove street appeared in large numbers at a meeting of the city council last night and protested against the proposed widening of the thoroughfare from Berryman street to Berkeley way, because they would be two times as wide as the street now is. The council rescinded the ordinance adopted for the widening process.

Last February the council adopted an ordinance which provided for the widening of the street because it was considered to be a dangerous thoroughfare. The street is narrow, and having a car line running the entire length of it makes it extremely dangerous. Several serious auto accidents have occurred there during the last few years. It was planned to widen it four feet by taking two feet from property owners first objected to the expense, of which they would be obliged to pay a certain part. Later it was stated that the widening would be done at the expense of the city. It was learned recently that the corporation could not secure the necessary funds to accomplish its purpose and likewise the protest of the property owners.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH IN POWDER EXPLOSION

RICHMOND, June 7. — A verdict of accidental death as the result of an explosion of powder was rendered by the jury in the inquest held last evening by Coroner C. L. Abbott to investigate the death of Chris Gunderson, Lewis Wallace, Joseph Parle and Wong Do Loung, who were killed on the morning of May 20 at Grant, when 500 pounds of dynamite exploded in the packing house of the Grant Powder plant. But two witnesses were examined.

William Flynn, foreman, who had a moment before the explosion been talking with the men and who had just left the packing house, and Henry Williams, who was approaching about 300 feet distant when the explosion occurred. Neither was able to throw any light on the question as to how the accident might have occurred.

TRIAL OF SUIT FOR TIDELANDS RESUMED

RICHMOND, June 7. — The hearing of the suit of the Castro Point Railway Company against the Anglo-Pacific Development Company to condemn several acres of land on the outer harbor near Wilehaven, was resumed in the Superior Court at Martinez yesterday with the defense presenting further testimony on the value of the land in dispute.

A. S. Macdonald, on the stand, valued the land at 75 cents a square foot, while other witnesses placed values ranging from $49,000 to $75,000 an acre. Although a large number of local real operators have been summoned to testify in the case as to the value of the land, none of the local contingent have as yet been called to the stand.

100 HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS ARE CALLED

All Who Have Joined or Suspected of Joining Fraternities on Grill.

Principal Keyes Will Make a Thorough Investigation of Conditions.

Eighty high school students suspected of having joined or having been pledged to Greek letter fraternities in violation of the State law will be on the carpet before Principal C. E. Keyes and the committee of the Board of Education detailed to investigate the matter, according to an announcement made by these officials.

High school, but in the Fremont high school and the Manual Training and Commercial school as well. Following disclosures which resulted in the expulsion of 15 youths last week the committee investigated all rumored fraternities members closely and the results of its findings are expected to be placed before the board Monday night, after the meeting of the committee of the whole.

Among the fraternities and sororities suspected of taking in present high school students are members and pledges of the Pi Delta Kappa, Gamma Eta Kappa, Lambda Theta Phi, a sorority, and several others. Most are local, or practically made up of chapters on the coast, the Pi Delta Kappa being the only one with extensive organization nationally.

Will Ask Help.

Following the letter to parents issued yesterday, the board is considering several other methods besides the expulsion of members to stamp out the fraternities. College fraternities will be asked, it is expected, to discourage them by promising to refrain from electing to membership in their organizations. Members of high school bodies. This action was proposed three years ago in college sororities, but never carried out. The university authorities will be asked to co-operate in this plan should the board, after consideration in committee, deem it practical. An effort will also be made to convince the students in the high school of the error and risk attendant on maintaining the organizations, and the older fraternity men urged not to jeopardize the school standing of younger students by allowing themselves to run the risk of expulsion.

"I cannot yet say how many students will be expelled as a result of the investigation," said Superintendent A. C. Barker today. "That is a matter which can only be told after the report is in. The list seems to be swelling as the probe progresses."

When the building was commenced the company obtained a loan of $500,000 from a New York insurance company to cover the process of erection. The site is one of the most valuable in the city and with the building represents a large investment.

JURY ACQUITS PRESIDENT WOOD DYNAMITE 'PLANT' NOT PROVEN

WILLIAM M. WOOD, PRESIDENT OF AMERICAN WOOL CO., WHO WAS ACQUITTED OF CHARGE OF CONSPIRACY TODAY.

Conspiracy Charge Fails to Convince; Collins Convicted on Two Charges

BOSTON, June 7.—After deliberating throughout the night the jury acquitted President William M. Wood of the American Woolen Company of the charge of conspiracy to injure the textile strikers at Lawrence by "planting" dynamite. A disagreement in the case of Frederick E. Atteaux was reported. Dennis J. Collins, who turned state's evidence, was found guilty on two counts and not guilty on the other four counts on the indictment.

The first count charged conspiracy to injure the textile strikers and the second conspiracy to injure unknown persons. The other counts alleged conspiracy against certain persons and a plot to damage property. The jurors began their deliberations of the case at 9 o'clock and were out all night without reporting. Court reconvened at 9:30 this morning and the jury came in at 10 o'clock.

The foreman reported that Collins was guilty on the first two counts.

Wood acquitted, and that the jury had been unable to agree in the case of Atteaux.

The court ordered that bail for Atteaux be renewed pending disposing of his case. Attorney Henry Hubert, counsel for Wood, asked the court to direct an investigation of the published statement that an attempt had been made to influence Morris Shuman, one of the jurors.

Before the court made its charge yesterday Shuman was questioned by Judge John C. Crosby and counsel regarding a statement which he was said to have made to the district attorney that a man unnamed, had intimated to him that he might have a business position for life and $200 in cash if he voted "right." Upon assuring the court that he would not be influenced by the alleged attempt at bribery Shuman was permitted to continue in the jury box. An investigation was ordered to begin next Wednesday.

ADMINISTRATION TO PREPARE REPLY TO JAPANESE

Bryan and Counselor Will Take Up Latest Note on the Alien Question.

Legal Argument to Cover the Japanese Rejoinder to Occupy Officials.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Secretary Bryan returned from Pittsburgh early today and prepared to take up with Counselor Moore Japan's latest note on the California alien land question, submitted by Viscount Chinda last Wednesday. In the verbal exchanges between the secretary and Ambassador Chinda and between the ambassador and the secretary, the department has been preparing for the newest points made by the foreign office. But because of their novelty, such as that relating to the fourteenth amendment and distinctions sought to be drawn between the relative functions of the national and state governments, the rejoinder must be carefully analyzed before any serious effort can be made to draft a reply.

WILL ACT PROMPTLY.

The administration has no disposition to lay itself open to the charge of procrastination, so Secretary Bryan and Counselor Moore will almost immediately devote themselves to preparation of a legal argument to cover the Japanese rejoinder as far as that may be done.

Except for the possible adverse effect upon the general relations between the United States and Japan which might follow a refusal by the Senate to ratify the renewal of the special arbitration treaty which expires in August, yesterday's proceedings in the executive session of the Senate are not likely directly to affect the present negotiations.

Ambassadors Are Honored at Dinner

PITTSBURGH, June 7.—The Japanese ambassador to America, Viscount Chinda, and the new American ambassador to Japan, George W. Guthrie of this city, shared the honors of a testimonial dinner to the latter last night arranged by "Friends and neighbors" and Secretary of State William J. Bryan, who, it was planned, formally would introduce the ambassadors to each other, was so delayed that he arrived almost as the festivities ended.

Ambassador Guthrie, in expressing his appreciation of the demonstration in his honor, addressing himself to Viscount Chinda said in part:

"TO 'PRACTICE SILENCE'."

"We are a people who keep faith and we wish to do justice. I am called to a station—I know not for how long—where I am to practice silence. In view of the message from the President which the secretary of state will read to us, it is not necessary nor proper for me to say more than to assure your excellency that unless I was in full and hearty accord with his policy I would not be his representative in the mission to Japan, with which he has honored me."

Viscount Chinda apologized for reading his speech, saying he feared the pitfalls of a foreign language. He spoke in part as follows:

"The United States and Japan, separated as they are by the vast and uncharted waters of the Pacific ocean, are now brought into closer contact with each other in all branches of peaceful activities."

"I do not deny that such contact is liable to give rise to occasional misunderstandings and complications, but I do deny the existence, or the possibility, of any phase of those difficulties which would not eventually yield to our mutual processes of diplomatic treatment—the treatment of justice and fair play and of a sympathetic understanding of the problem of each nation by the other."

APPEALS CHINA.

Secretary Bryan said in part: "I have had opportunity to renew in this country an acquaintance with his excellency, the Japanese ambassador, which began nearly eight years ago in his far away home. I feel that both his country and ours are fortunate in having in the diplomatic service one so fully equipped for the duties that fall to an ambassador."

"While no one could surpass him in devotion to the interests of his countrymen it would be equally impossible to find a more courteous and kindhearted of spirit which are so valuable in international affairs. He has set so high a standard that the President has been careful to select as our representative to Japan a man of the highest character, of large experience and of sincere appreciation of the greatness and the progressive thought of the country to which he goes."

In the early hours of the dinner Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer and Secretary of Labor W. B. Wilson paid tributes to the new ambassador in remarks and among letters of regret was that of President Wilson.

Ambassador Guthrie will make his official call on Ambassador Chinda the latter part of this month and will sail for Japan from San Francisco July 15.

TOUR TO RECALL ADVENT OF AUTO

Pioneer Auto Builder May Be Among Indiana Auto Visitors.

(By EDMUND CRINNION.)

When the monster auto parade which is to precede the departure of the great Indiana-to-Pacific motorists' pilgrimage on next July 1 falls into line in Indianapolis the participation of the Haynes contingent in that event will recall an incident of twenty years ago, the most important event in the history of the self-propelled vehicle. For it will then be just twenty years since the first American built automobile was given its first road trial upon the streets of which was built the greatest industry of the age.

Housed in no less a distinguished place than the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C. is that first American made car. Its designer and builder is Elwood Haynes, president of the Haynes automobile company of Kokomo. The exact birth date of the original motor car cannot be fixed, but the date of its first road trial is chronicled in the musty files of many newspapers and in the archives of the United States government. With three passengers aboard Haynes on that day drove nine miles on the Kokomo turnpike without a breakdown. While the debut of the mechanical wonder amazed the natives and frightened the horses, the present development of the automobile is directly the result of that first experiment.

The car was a one-cylinder, one-horsepower affair capable of traveling at a speed of six miles an hour. The next step was a two-horsepower motor with a twelve-mile-an-hour speed, but this didn't satisfy Haynes. In 1895 he built his two-cylinder four-horsepower motor which made a speed of twenty miles on solid and twenty-five miles on pneumatic tires. That car was really the beginning of the present Haynes cars.

In the twenty elapsed years Haynes has been growing even more rapidly than the industry itself. An active head in the Haynes Company he has been instrumental in developing improvements in design and parts which have brought the modern motor car to its present state of efficiency.

C. H. Haynes, treasurer of the Haynes Auto Sales Company of California, the western distributing organization for the Haynes products, is probably the only San Franciscan who remembers the infancy of America's first car, being not only a brother of the famous builder, but one of the three original passengers in that quaint vehicle of two decades ago.

MOORE PLANS TOUR.

Arthur Moore of the Oakland Bank of Commerce is planning to motor again this year to Tahoe. On his trip last year in his 1912 Cadillac, he was advised to carry a water bag to replenish the water in his radiator as there are some stretches where there is no water. Mr. Moore reports, however, that he had no occasion to use the water bag and in fact did not put a drop of water in his radiator from the time he left here until he returned.

THREATEN VICE-CONSUL WITH BRITISH RECALL

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—British residents of Southern California began a move yesterday for the recall of C. White Mortimer, British consul in Los Angeles, as an aftermath of the Empire Day disaster at Long Beach which cost 38 lives.

A petition requesting the removal of the vice consul was drafted at a meeting of the Empire Day celebration committee and will be forwarded to Sir Edward Grey, head of the foreign office in London.

The petition alleges general inefficiency but specifically charges that the vice consul "took no part in the celebration and during the inquiry on the victims he efforts to place the responsibility for the accident."

Mr. Mortimer declined to comment on the effort to remove him.

MUSICIAN FIRE BUG, SAY POLICE

Professor Bachman Arrested for Arson; Officers Say He Has Confessed.

SAN JOSE, June 7.—Professor Max Bachman, for months a leader in musical circles here, was formally placed under arrest by the local police tonight following what the officers say is a full confession from him in which he admits arson committed in several California cities, as well as in the east.

Professor Bachman has been an orchestra leader in Coronado, Los Angeles, San Diego and San Jose since coming to California, and before that held similar positions in eastern cities. He has traveled about the country, the police say, stopping for varying periods in various cities and committing arson just prior to leaving each place. In many instances, they say, he has sold the furnishings on which he carried insurance just prior to the fires, and then collected damages from insurance companies on property which was not within blocks of the fire.

The fire which caused his arrest here occurred on May 10. Shortly before 11 o'clock at night the fire department was called to Sixth and Santa Clara streets, where Bachman's studio was ablaze. The furniture, including valuable musical instruments, was damaged but not destroyed. Circumstances, the police thought suspicious were found, and the investigation which resulted in the musician's arrest tonight followed.

He formerly lived in Boston and is said to have committed arson there.

WIRELESS MEN RETURN TO WORK

Operators Receive No Increase in Wages; Union Is Recognized.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Confirmation of the report that the wireless telegraphers' strike had been settled was given by S. J. Kosenkamp, president of the International Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America. The men return to work, he said, at the old wage scale and have won their employers' recognition of their organization.

About forty operators will return to work here today.

As the news reaches other coast ports other men will return to their ships. "The question of organization did not enter into the strike," was the statement today from the Marconi offices. "The men have always had the right to organize and we have always been ready to treat with the union. The strike was for an increase in wages. No other question was at issue."

GIFT TO WOMAN IS UPHELD.

SANTA ROSA, June 7.—"In my opinion the allegations made in this case have not been sustained in any particular, and I don't care to hear any argument, as it is unnecessary," Judge Judge Thomas Denny in the Superior Court when the evidence was ended in the suit brought by George P. Loveloy, as administrator of the estate of Mrs. Anna L. Point, against former Supervisor and Mrs. Blair Hart to compel Mrs. Hart to return a gift of $27.11 to the estate. W. D. Heister counsel for the plaintiffs, asked the court to stay judgment for two weeks.

FOREIGN TRADE ASKS STATISTICS

Campaign of Local Chamber Attracts Inquiries as to Markets.

Within a week, the foreign trade department of the chamber of commerce has received more than a hundred responses to the circular letter it sent out recently to local merchants asking them to send in data concerning the goods in which they dealt and the countries to which they wished to trade, in order that the department may be able to give satisfactory answers to the many inquiries that come from abroad relative to trade possibilities in San Francisco and California.

Among letters of inquiry from abroad received yesterday by the foreign trade department of the chamber of commerce was one from R. Hollaar, of Rotterdam, Holland, who asks for a list of California exporters, packers and brokers of dried fruits, saying that large quantities of such are consumed in Holland.

Adolph Wunsch Nachf., of Gahmbz, Bohemia, has asked the chamber for facilities in trade with watches, jewelry goods and jewelry.

England's Militant Suffragette Problem.

England's militant suffragette crusade for the granting of the right of voting to women has developed into the most difficult problem the government has been called upon to deal with since the Liberals came into power. There is no doubt that the great majority of the women in the United Kingdom have no desire to exercise the right of suffrage, have no sympathy with the militants and discountenance the insane violence employed to force compliance with their demands. In their militant methods they do not hesitate at the commission of any crime. The campaign began with window-smashing, mobbing members of the cabinet with mud, rotten eggs, grass sods and cabbage heads. It has passed through the milder stages of personal aggression and damage to property. It has now entered the most serious criminal stage—namely, in the indiscriminate application of the torch, in the destruction of private residences and in efforts to destroy some of the most historic and highly prized public structures in the United Kingdom and deliberate attempts to murder judicial officers and others whose duties required them to administer the law against its violators in any form.

From an early period in the history of the movement, the leaders of the militant suffragettes have given ample proof of being fanatics of the most violent type—insanely unreasonable, absolutely uncontrollable by any of the methods provided by law as a means of restraint, gladly willing to take any risk of injury to person or even loss of life that will enable them to pose as martyrs to the cause of "votes for women."

This week has been unusually fruitful of militant crimes, the list including a deliberate attempt to push the magistrate who sent Mrs. Pankhurst to jail over a high cliff which, had it succeeded would have been sure death to him; the burning of a large and costly mansion in course of erection; interfering with the Derby race on Epsom Downs at the risk of the life of the suffragette and the king's horse and jockey, and poisoning, with dyeing chemicals, two reservoirs supplying the Yorkshire town of Hellodene with drinking water. Had the latter crime not been discovered in time, it might have wiped out an entire community. But the crazy British suffragettes are apparently ready to commit any crime, however horrifying it may be, on the ground that the end sought justifies the means.

If a large deposit of anthracite coal has been discovered within a few miles of the Atlantic entrance of the Panama canal, as reported in a Colon dispatch, it is a fact of tremendous importance. Such a deposit would be enormously valuable because a coaling station will have to be established at the mouth of the canal. The coal field is said to cover an area of twenty-five square miles, and to be distant only nine miles from Colon. Canal engineers are said to have looked the field over and pronounced the coal good and the deposit large and workable. The singular thing about the alleged discovery is that it should have excited so little interest in government circles. Perhaps there is an exploiting scheme on foot and the government officials are awaiting further developments before committing themselves.

Everybody seems pleased over the verdict in the Roosevelt libel case. The Colonel says he is de-lighted, and his admirers rejoice that he has been vindicated. Editor Newett thinks the advertising his little paper received is cheaply bought for the six cents he is required to pay for the damage he wrought. So everybody is happy, or ought to be, and we trust that Colonel Roosevelt's sobriety will never again be imported into political discussion. Personal detraction never accomplishes much good, and is usually directed by bitterness, prejudice, partisanship and a reckless indifference to facts.

Bay Shore Boulevard Development.

The agitation for the improvement of the roads leading out of San Francisco through San Mateo and Santa Clara counties to make the western side of the bay more attractive to motorists is being renewed in the three counties. The increase of the trans-bay movement of automobiles and other motor cars for daily outings on the good roads of Alameda county and the boulevards of the east bay shore cities is not regarded by the tri-county organization with any special favor, but it is being recognized as a display of enterprise and a profitable investment of public money which the three western bay-side counties should emulate.

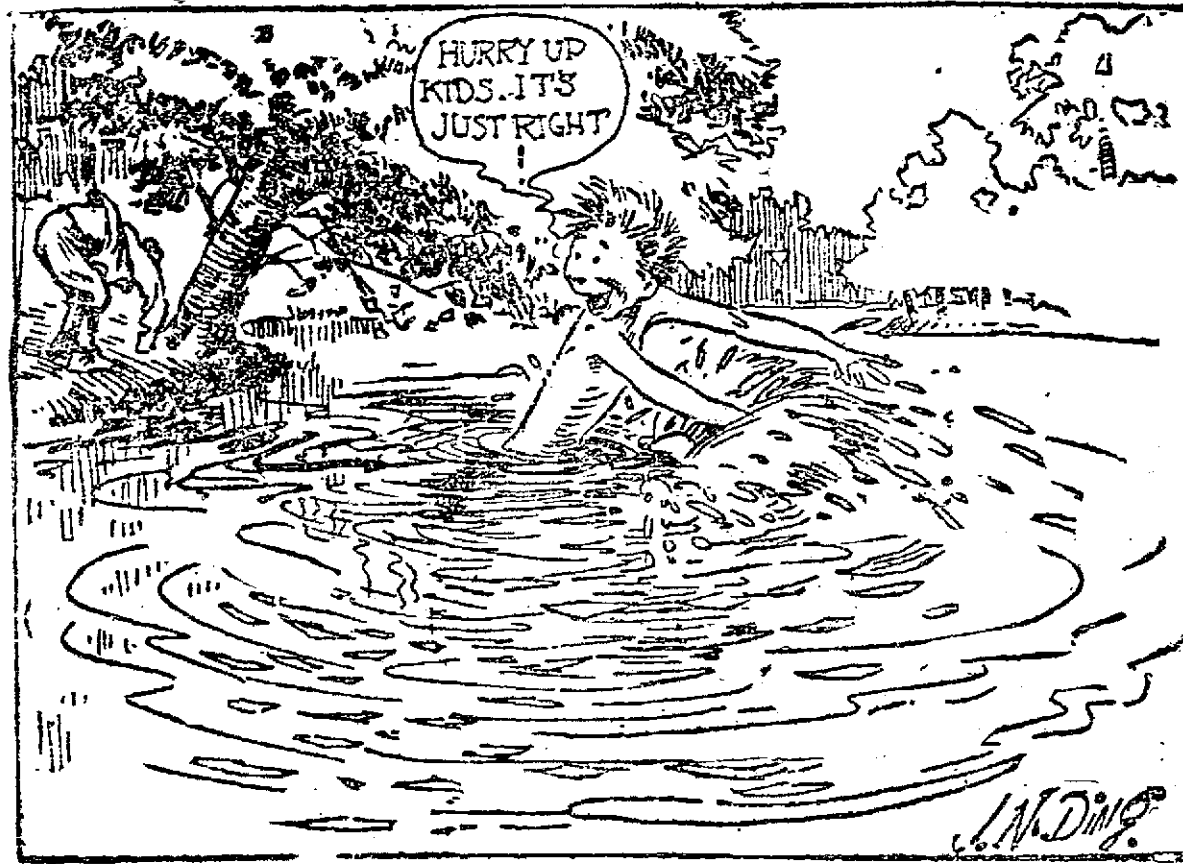

The money spent by Alameda county and each of the ten municipalities in it for the development of a network of high-class boulevards reaching out in all directions has proved to be one of the best investments they ever made. This system of good roads reaches to the boundaries of each of the four contiguous counties. Thousands of motor cars of all descriptions use them daily. The scenic beauties of Alameda county have been so opened up to the sightseer by these good roads that thousands of visitors are attracted here from across the bay and neighboring counties for a tour of inspection every Sunday and general holiday. Every motorist can traverse easily a hundred miles in a day's outing on this side of the bay over the best roads in the State without doubling up on a foot of roadway and enjoy an ever-varying and constantly changing scenery of the greatest beauty.

Whenever the three counties on the western side of the bay carry out the plans of road improvement which they have discussed for years, but which they have not begun to develop intelligently, the communities on this side of the bay will hail the change with delight. Every one of them appreciates the fact that whenever the boulevard system is extended around the southern end of the bay, with one end of the horseshoe resting on the Alameda-Contra Costa boundary line and the other on the southern shore of the Golden Gate, it will receive its due share of the financial benefits which will follow the improvement and the opening of the thoroughfare to motor machine traffic. Such a boulevard when finished will be practically on a dead level for a distance of one hundred miles through the territory where the beauty of the natural scenery has been enhanced by the highest type of artistic development and constituting a continuous source of delight to the sightseers. Whenever this horseshoe boulevard is constructed along the western and southern shore lines of the bay to join the Alameda county boulevard system the San Francisco bay region will become one of those famous spots on earth which every globe-trotter will give a conspicuous place in his itinerary.

The British Laureateship.

The demise of Alfred Austin leaves the office of poet laureate in England vacant and the succession much the same subject of popular discussion as it was when Tennyson died. At the time of Tennyson's death, Swinburne, Kipling, William Watson, William Morris and Sir Lewis Morris were regarded as the group from which the selection would be made. Swinburne was handicapped by the low standard of morality of much of his verse. Rudyard Kipling had given Queen Victoria offense by his left-handed compliment to "the widow of Windsor." The socialism of William Morris, the art dealer and designer, was an insurmountable obstacle to his selection. Watson was side-tracked on the double ground of being too young and tainted also with socialism, and Sir Lewis Morris, who inherited the divine afflatus from his father, Hu Morris, one of the most distinguished of the Welsh bards who flourished in the early part of the nineteenth century, was persona non grata with the Marquis of Salisbury, who was then premier and held the power of appointment, because of the fact that he was an ardent Liberal.

Alfred Austin's appointment came as a tremendous shock to the British people at large, for he was not rated even as a second-class poet. Salisbury was strongly criticized for his display of poor judgment and openly charged with having conferred the honor on Austin as a reward for political services rendered the Conservative party as a journalist and not on the ground of any merit as a writer of verse.

Everything that Austin wrote after his appointment to the laureateship confirmed the public judgment that a great mistake had been made by Salisbury in the selection of one of such mediocre poetic talent as the successor of the greatest of poet laureates since the days of William Wordsworth. Indeed there is reason to believe that the disease which finally caused his death had taken root before his appointment. As poet laureate, he cut so insignificant a figure and was so seldom in evidence as such, that the British people had practically totally forgotten him for many years past. What is interesting the British people now is, Who will Asquith select as Austin's successor?

IT DOES MAKE YOU MAD

Down in Oakland they have a "direct" of the child study laboratory, what ever that is, who has published a statement to the effect that every child in Oakland is mentally deficient or diseased and she recommends a parental home, an industrial farm and the sterilization of those unfit to become parents.

All of which justly arouses the wrath of THE TRIBUNE which takes the statement as a reflection upon Oakland's climate and Oakland's health condition. But THE TRIBUNE had just as well be patient. No city is immune from pests who, for the gratification of getting into print or for even some less laudable purpose, are willing to utter or print any sort of gross statement about the community in which they reside. But THE TRIBUNE is right, just the same, when it says:

"The private and unofficial faddist and fanatic who sees in all food and drink a pest that must be endured like fleas and vermin. But when the whole population of a city is officially indicted by an official of one of its governmental agencies, it is time to call a halt. The children of the people no longer go to school to learn, but to serve as material for the experiments of every pasty-minded crank who has smattered enough of science to misapply its conclusions.

Possibly, too THE TRIBUNE may have observed that those who are least competent to form an opinion, those who have the least interest in the city they call home, are the loudest in denunciation, or in misrepresentation, which ever particular diversion their outbursts may take.

But they do not really count as against the efforts of the men and women who are busy doing things. The latter get results, so many of them that the disturbers do less harm than we imagine. But it is true they do annoy and we can understand the indignation in this instance of THE TRIBUNE, which works in season and out for the advancement of Oakland.—Bakersfield Californian.

HE KNEW JOSEPHUS DANIELS

It seems that I have overlooked one of the most glorious episodes of American history—and this is what I get from Colonel Joe Baker in THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE:

"Phil Francis is greatly puzzled to know why President Wilson selected Hon. Josephus Daniels for Secretary of the Navy. Strange that the Stockton editor should be so ignorant of recent political history. The Hon. Josephus was Secretary of War during Bryan's first administration and made a memorable record. He is also a poet of renown. He is the author of the stirring couplet:

"Hear the voice of old Bill Bryan
On the plains of Nebraska,
For the White House he keeps trying,
But always loses in Australia."

"Not know Josephus! Has fame passed Phil Francis by without blowing her trumpet? Surely the eminent public services of the most eminent editor of Runcombe county have not been hidden under a bushel or a quart cup that our Stockton contemporary should be waiting (thundering military fame of Josephus. And what makes the crime more desperate is that I once knew Josephus in the flesh.

Twenty-odd years ago, an implacable Providence stranded me in Raleigh and impelled me into the awful presence of Josephus, then managing editor of the News and Observer and rather new to the dignity. Josephus was then in the mid-May and flourish of his youth—and though no such dazzling spectacle as the Honorable Jim Ham Aurora Borealevis, he was fully as pulchritudinous as Doc. Pardee's whiskers; and his sense of the awful responsibilities attached to the editorial conduct of the Raleigh News and Observer was as evident as that of Chittie Rowell when he re-arranges, in the Fresno Republican, the scheme of the universe of a fine morning before going to breakfast.

Having been an eye witness of the pulchritude and the awful dignity of Josephus, it is impossible for me to forget the story. It is indeed a story of the triumphs in the great war in which the One beat the Sixteen.

I confess the crime, plead guilty to the indictment, throw up my hands, too, my hat, shoes, job and breakfast, too, in necessary—and collapse, so to speak, upon the mercy of the honorable court.—Phil Francis in his Stockton Letter.

IDLE MEN LEAST DESERVING

Farmers within a few miles from Stockton are in need of help and work can be given today to all of 100 men in San Joaquin county in the hay fields and as general ranch hands. Throughout the valley there is employment for several hundred men. Wages being paid for ranch work range from $1.25 a day to $2.50 and the farmers are begging for men at those figures.

Yesterday a farmer approached a crowd of men loitering about on the courthouse lawn, offered them work at $1.50 a day in the hay field and none of the men accepted the opportunity to work though all professed to be working men looking for employment. One "smart Alec" in the crowd flippantly replied that if the farmer would bring the hay in they would stack it for him.

Local employment offices are offering ranch cooks from $30 to $40 a month and there were several jobs at those figures available yesterday. Milkmen are being offered $10 a month and jobs are open. A large number of laborers and others are wanted in the Oakland section at $2.50 a day and within the next two weeks there will be a big demand for farm hands in the harvest fields at $2.50 a day.

Those who keep in touch with the labor situation say that the best class of farm hands are all employed and that the men now loitering about the town and playing the role of human straws about the curbs and public lawns consist of a minority who, when they do work, stay on a job just long enough to get the price of a debauch and then hasten back to town to spend their own money and lie in wait for the industrious acquaintances they formed while in the country upon whom to sponge so long as they have a cent.

Old-time farmers say that this section a few years ago was the home of as fine a lot of men as could be found anywhere and that they worked industriously during the haying and harvesting and could always be relied upon to do a day's work whenever it was open to them. The most of this class, however, have since gone to the northwest where grain fields are more extensively farmed and in their stead has come an army of loafers who could not be kept steadily at work at any price.

There is work and lots of it for everybody that wants it and the men who are idle and loafing about the town today under the pretense of looking for a job are in the same class with the fellow who, though he sought work, prayed he would never find it.—Stockton Independent.

Valianos 3 Mere Tyro

The predicament into which Nick Valianos, the Greek interpreter in the police courts, finds himself through his zeal in endeavoring to negotiate justice for a $140 consideration recalls the story of the well-known former lawyer who had a mortgage on most of the Chinese business of the city years ago. In this case the lawyer did not barter and trade with the names of any such mediocrities as police court judges or police court attaches. He won the Supreme Court of the United States outright. How many tens of thousands of dollars were realized will never be known. The method was simple, and had the lawyer not started out late in life equipped with a sheepskin to practice law he probably would have been price for an ordinary decision was flowing. Those were the days of numerous immigration questions and before the artless Chairman had become schooled in the graft that he has been made the victim of for years.

The $10,000 would probably swing the Supreme Court, but in close cases the lawyer would demand more. He had a "hook" out of the court through an attorney at Washington, and in cases where the decision was scheduled to be five to four in his favor he would wire out for more funds. Love at First Sight

There is one set of the very young contingent of society where the early marriages of great-grandmothers' days prevail. They are all very modern young people otherwise, but they do have a way of getting engaged at sixteen and marrying before they are twenty. A contrast to the ways of their older sisters who used to do society half a dozen years before they settled down to matrimony and maternity. Two or three seasons ago there was an epidemic of matrimony among belles of ten or twelve years, standing. Most of the year's smart brides were past thirty. People discussed it and remarked how wisely the twentieth century young woman waited before taking the step into matrimony and so on. But the 1913 girls seem to have revived old

A Reception on Deck

Mrs. Andrew Simpson introduced a charming innovation in entertaining when she sailed away on her wedding trip last Wednesday. She was hostess at an informal reception on the deck of the Shinyo Maru that made the sailing of the steamer a very great event. Mrs. Simpson, who was handsome Lola Davis, was a bride of last week. But her marriage to the Stocktonian was a quiet affair with no reception, and the young couple departed at once for a brief stay in the country, returning to take the steamer for a tour of Japan. It was the bride's inspiration to give a matinee reception on the liner's deck and invitations were telephoned to their friends. There were literally loads of flowers and nearly a hundred animated

Friends of Mrs. Carlo Baron, who sympathized with her grief over the death of her baby boy a year ago, are rejoicing to hear that she is again the mother of a lovely boy. The child was born in Perugia, Italy, on May 22 just a year after the passing away of the first child. Society remembers Mrs. Baron as Virginia Bogue, the beautiful New York girl who created such a furor here during the first Portola celebration at which she was queen. Although we boast of our California beauties, Virginia had been here less than a year before she was voted the handsomest girl in San Francisco. She is tall and statuesque, with large, finely chiseled features, clear skin, gray eyes, and dark brown hair, a very manly figure.

There's trouble in Carmel again. No since the village painter went through bankruptcy, following the footsteps of the village barber, has such a potter been stirred. Carmel has had a real knock-down and drag-out battle. Ordinarily the talented men and women of that retreat of the muses fight their battles with pen and ink or the typewriter. But not this time. Could not the painter and the writer, writes about, was spilled. The blood was the blood of Sterling and it spilled when Fred Bechholdt's right fist, which is just as vigorous and as healthy as the stories which Bechholdt writes, connected with the poetical provocations.

Pie-Eaters and a Stranded Band

It would appear about time that a heaven of common sense was injected into the affairs of the Columbia Park boys' organization. From London comes a cable announcing that Major Sidney Peixoto and forty-seven members of the boys' band of that organization, which started out to tour the world, are stranded. The parents of the boys are holding meetings to devise ways and means. While the forty-seven boys are stranded in London another member of the Peixoto family stages a pie-eating contest for the detection of patrons at an entertainment of the Columbia Park Club. Pie-eating contests may be all right. Evidently some people think they are. Other people think they are vulgar exhibitions of muscular independence since

Other Brides in Their Teens

Miss Grace Wilson, the statuesque daughter of the James K. Wilsons, is another of the same set who will be a bride this year. Her engagement to Hugh Peterson was a recent announcement. Then there were the Everett girls. Dorothy married at seventeen and went to Fresno to live, and Margery eloped at eighteen with Fritz Von Schraeder. Lillian Whitney was engaged to Ernest Sullivan of New York at seventeen and married at nineteen. Helen Leavitt who was married to Dr. Harry Leavitt is an eighteen-year-old matron, and Marianne Mathew will be the eighteen-year-old bride of Aleck Wilson. Atabella Morrow, who was married Wednesday to Harold Mann, was not one of the same intimate circle, but of the same season. She is still in her teens and Margery Stafford, who was Thursday's bride, is not yet twenty. Town Talk.

Charming Mabel Riegelman Weds

The quiet wedding of Mabel Riegelman to Marcus Samuel, the San Francisco lawyer, was no surprise to the intimate friends and the family of the noted song bird. Over in East Alameda, where the bride of Gadsby has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Charles A. Winsby, almost all day, the secret has been whispered for some time. The engagement was announced several months ago. The daily press had it that Miss Riegelman came out from Chicago to be married, reaching here only last week. This is not so. She has been living quietly with her mother since the opera season closed at the Tivoli. She scored a very big success there, and was the recipient of basket loads full of invitations to various functions in her honor. It was in order to complete her preparations in peace and quiet for her wedding that Miss Riegelman permitted the story to go out that she had returned to Chicago.—The Wasp.

Was a School Day Romance

As a leading member of the Chicago Grand Opera Company and an American singer who created a furor abroad, Miss Riegelman was much sought after by impetuous suitors of varying social degrees even including, it is said, a title or two. But she remained loyal to her early romance, for Mr. Samuel and she first plighted their troth in the days when they both attended the Lafayette grammar school in Oakland. She is essentially a wholesome, sensible girl whose successes have not turned her head in the slightest. She prefers to spend her leisure time—or did before the married and started on her honeymoon to the Yosemite—playing with her little niece, who but recently arrived to make the sister a radiantly happy mother. They tell a pretty story on Liberty avenue, where the Winsbys live, of the first night the songbird sang in San Francisco, at the Tivoli opening. Instead of remaining after the performance to be asked to accept suitors, she went to an after theater dinner, the songbird took the first boat to Alameda and spent the night under the eaves of the Winsby bungalow with her sister.—The Wasp.

Married a California Girl

Captain Niblack, United States naval attaché at Berlin, who was a guest at the marriage of the German Kaiser's daughter, is married to a California girl. She was Miss Corbett, a member of a well-known family. Captain H. W. The dinner was a return for the farewell affair previously given Captain Bjornstad at the Auto Club when he was presented with a silver cigar-box containing the engraved signatures of all the attaches. Captain Bjornstad received a farewell audience with the Kaiser, who presented him with an autographed portrait in a bronze frame.—The Wasp.

It Made Cobb Feel Small Also

Some of President Charles C. Moore's conferees on the Board of Directors of the Exposition Company are telling a good little joke on the urbane Charles. Some time ago President Moore was visiting at the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. At the time he was overlooking the beauties of that wonder spot, humorist Irvin S. Cobb, of the Saturday Evening Post, was wandering near by and happened to take perspectives of nature's wonders.

On one of these elevated viewpoints one day Moore came upon Cobb. Neither man knew the other. Mr. Moore felt in his best postprandial humor. He began to dilate on the scenery in that well-known banquet manner. Cobb had heard a good many citizen orators in his day as newspaper writer, and permitted the exuberant president to plunge on. "Nothing," went on Moore, according to a veracious gossip, "is so magnificent as nature in her wonderful magnitude of magnificence. It makes me feel so small that I feel like an ant here on the face of nature."

Babies Are Getting Fashionable

We are waking up to the realization of one thing—and that is that babies are now becoming more fashionable than dogs. For a time it wasn't so, you know. Dogs were the rage, and babies a sort of necessary evil confined strictly to the nursery, while the pet dog had the room of the entire house. Babies are coming into their own again, and resuming their proper place. The latest news on the subject is that Mrs. Malcolm Whitman, who has always been the patron saint of canines, has sold three magnificent kennels of sixty-three prize winners in order to devote her entire time to Mr. Whitman's small boy and girl, and to have everything in readiness for her own approaching accouchement, expected this month or next. You can imagine what a change has come over the fair Jennie, for you surely remember that she gave up going to England on her honeymoon when she found she could not land her dogs there. What a change!—The Wasp.

The Modeler

IT IS quite wonderful to note the many sided ways in which our social life is developing. One notices that in the way we are arranging for our summer months. There was a time when we closed up all our schoolhouses tightly, and there was no such thing as a playground for children. Now our schoolhouses are social centers in the summer time and the playgrounds are the delight of old and young alike.

And now we come to the women's clubs, many of which are pushing forward with a vim and vigor. The Town and Gown club of Berkeley has always been one of the most conservative clubs in the state. It numbers among its members the wives of many of the university professors, and the smart set of Berkeley is well represented therein. The next formal meeting of the Town and Gown club will be held September 10, and in the meantime there will be a series of interesting gatherings, lasting all summer.

Every Wednesday afternoon the clubhouse will be opened and tea will be served the club members and their guests. It will mean a series of weekly receptions all through the summer, that will give members an opportunity of entertaining out-of-town friends as well as of enjoying summer afternoons together.

Many of the leading clubs have established "social" afternoons as part of the regular club programs. In California, the staid, conservative Century club has led the way, and this year there have been "bridge" days, greatly enjoyed by the members. It has made of the Century a club of all-around activities, as a club should be to quite a success and has made the Century club very popular with its members.

The Adelphi club of Alameda has also a social afternoon each month, and the social side of life has had its innings in the programs for the year of the Cap and Bells club and the California club.

All study clubs are beginning to find out that they must have a social side, because a great many of their members do not care to belong to sections, and as a rule only current events sections have many members. In the old days when clubs had their beginning, they were primarily organized for study, because "higher education for women" was bitterly opposed. Many women prefer to study along their own lines. They do civic work, or they engage in hospital work, or they are in touch with some of the many activities or philanthropies of the day. They do their studying along lines that appeal to them, and look to the club to afford them the opportunity of meeting friends as well as of social relaxation.

The leading clubs in the state have realized this fact, hence the "social afternoon" which is part of the year's program of our largest and most successful clubs.

"To play cards or not to play cards" is the subject under discussion in many of our leading clubs today. And it is a question with many sides. There are some women who never play cards, and their opposition is always hostile in the extreme. They do not want to play themselves, and they do not want anyone to play. There is a second class of women who do not play cards themselves, but who never make any laws for other women. There is the third class, and it far outnumbers the other two classes put together, who play cards, and who include among their many accomplishments a good game of auction. They cannot see why a club "at home" should not include "cards." They reason accurately that no woman who does not want to be ever forced to learn bridge, and therefore it is no concern of hers if other people do. The Home club owes part of its popularity to the fact that men are members of the club and that they are made comfortable and happy at the card tables of the club.

There is this to be considered in formulating plans for social afternoons: "Bridge" has absolutely won out in the social world. Auction bridge is the great game of the century. It is played by every smart set in the world today. It is almost a requirement for a woman of the smart set to know how to play a good game of auction bridge. It is played in the most conservative homes all over the world, and that being the case, there is no reason why it should not be played in any woman's club.

In point of discipline, there are very few things better than "auction bridge." For one thing, one must accept with patience the days when Dame Fortune refuses to give one any

One must learn to congratulate the adversary when she wins the prize. But above all it is valuable for the mental training which it gives. In teaching one to think quickly, to reason correctly. In that line it is of as much value as any course in mathematics. The woman who does not meet other women often becomes narrow and very set in her views and very hard to get along with in her home. The woman who has many activities, and presides over her home in a big, broad fashion, is the best companion for her husband and growing sons. A family which can occasionally settle down to a game of cards after dinner, establishes a basis of comradeship worth while.

What is true of a home is true of a club, and of the latter it might be said that the wishes of the few should never stand in the way of the welfare of the many. It may be said, too, that most of the members of our many clubs play bridge, and they would cordially welcome any innovation which would give them a bridge day each month in the clubrooms. It would give them such a glorious opportunity to entertain friends.

CAVALIER-ADAMS WEDDING PICTURESQUE.

The wedding of Mr. William Cavalier and Miss Camille Adams was one of the most picturesque and elaborate that Oakland has seen this summer.

Miss Adams is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Adams and the late Dr. Frank L. Adams, one of the best loved of Oakland's young physicians. He is remembered with pure affection by many friends of his schoolboy and

All the details of the wedding were perfectly planned, making it a wonderful study in color, and in fascinating details. The house represented a beautiful garden of roses, and the improvised altar was a lovely bower of pink roses. The girls of the bridal party were all very young and very pretty, like charming rosebuds, and the wedding party made a lovely study. By many the bride is considered one of the most beautiful girls in Oakland, and she made a very stunning study in a superb wedding costume. It was made along simple lines and in the merit of the costume was a touch of romance—of memories of an earlier wedding—for the gown was trimmed with lace which adorned Mrs. Frank Adams' wedding gown 24 years ago.

The wedding color scheme was along French lines of pink and blue. Miss Nellie Adams is very tall and stunning, a fine type of girl, and she was a lovely maid of honor in a gown of pink charmeuse, set off with an armful of Maryland roses.

The three bridesmaids were school and college chums of the bride, and they were Miss Beth Hoyt, Miss Margaret Garthwaite and Miss Deborah Dyer. Miss Hoyt and Miss Dyer were in gowns of pink charmeuse, and Miss Margaret Garthwaite was in blue. They carried bouquets of pink roses tied with great bows of blue satin ribbon.

Mrs. Frank Adams wore a very beautiful gown of lavender crepe, most elaborately trimmed in rare point lace. Her ornaments were amethysts and diamonds.

charmeuse. She carried a big bouquet of Colonial roses.

The marriage service was read by Rev. Alexander Allen of St. Paul's Episcopal church, after which there was an informal reception. The wedding supper was served in a large marquee, in the garden of the Adams home, and it was elaborately decorated in Woodwardia ferns and roses. The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Grace Layman, and Fate sent the ring in the cake to Miss Deborah Dyer.

Among the many wedding guests were: Mrs. Cavalier and Mrs. Frank Adams; Mr. and Mrs. Lennell Adams; Mrs. Simpson; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Adams; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie M. and Mrs. Chas. Rice; Mr. J. P. Dyer; Miss Minnie Dyer; Mr. and Mrs. Wick; Mr. and Mrs. Edward; Mr. and Mrs. William; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Garthwaite; Mr. and Mrs. John Hoyt; Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Hall; Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Johnson, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hubbard; Mr. and Mrs. John L. Howard; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Havens; Mr. and Mrs. A. L. White; Mr. and Mrs. William; Mr. and Mrs. Victor Metcalf; Mr. and Mrs. A. Schilling.

Moore was one of the debutantes of last season and since her coming out tea she has been away a great deal, having spent the greater part of the winter abroad.

The "at home" was given in honor of Mrs. Edgar Zook, formerly Miss Ruth Slack of San Francisco, and of Mrs. Warren Harrold (Madeleine Clay). Among those who assisted the hostess in receiving the company of the afternoon were Miss Ethel Moore, Mrs. Walter Starr, Mrs. John J. Valentine, Mrs. Jack Van Sicken, Miss Avon Spring, Miss Edith Slack, Miss Inez Pischel and Miss Letha Pischel.

study in roses, a fitting environment for the rosebud garden of girls who gathered there.

FANS ARE SURELY COMING BACK.

For some years now, American women have not used fans as accessories for their costumes, but no doubt in the near future we will see them, since they are now being so universally used abroad. Of course, Spanish women always use them, just as they always use the picturesque mantilla, and in their hands, the fan speaks a language of its own. Most women of the smart set abroad are now using fans, and American women are copying the fashion. At the opera in Paris last week Mrs. John Astor carried a huge fan of black ostrich feathers, and the Duchesse de Talleyrand, (Anna Gould), carried a lovely old painted fan, that might have belonged to some former Queen of France. Great fans of quills are also to be seen at the Paris theaters, and fans are much in evidence at the smart set assemblages of the London season. Many families have heirlooms in the way of beautiful fans, and one may expect to see many of them in evidence in the coming months.

An exceedingly fine collection of fans was owned by Mrs. Hearst, who has given them to the University of California, where they will be some time in the future, an important part of the museum there. Lovely fans have been inherited by many families of Spanish ancestry, and they bid fair to be in evidence in the coming months, as they add a special charm to a picturesque costume.

SOCIAL SIDE OF DENTISTS CONVENTION.

The Dental Convention in Oakland represented an important gathering of very earnest men—doctors who are devoted to the uplift and to the best interests of their profession. The greater part of the time was of course devoted to the consideration of important subjects, but there was time also for the lighter side of life, so some of the social gatherings were delightfully arranged.

Mrs. Joseph Loran Pease, whose husband, Doctor Pease, has taken so much interest in the convention, presided at a delightful luncheon at the Hotel Oakland on Thursday. The luncheon was in honor of Mrs. McManus of Los Angeles, who came to Oakland to be present at the Dental Convention. It was mainly through the efforts of Mrs. McManus that the free clinic for children, especially the dental side of it, was organized in Los Angeles. She is a very charming woman, of rare ability, and much personal magnetism. The guest of honor was received and welcomed by Mrs. Joseph Loran Pease, and the guests were later seated at a round table in the large dining room of the Hotel Oakland. It was a charming picture, the center piece being a lovely study in pink sweet peas and maidenhair ferns.

At the table were Mrs. J. Loran Pease, Mrs. McManus of Los Angeles, Miss Ethel Moore, Mrs. George Gross, Mrs. Frederick Turner of the Civic Club, Dr. Sarah Shuey, Miss Mollie Connors, literary editor of THE TRIBUNE; Mrs. Jarvis, Miss Annie Florence Brown of the Board of Education, Miss Beatrice McCall, probation officer, and Mrs. Rowell of Berkeley, president of the State Federation of Mothers' Clubs. It was a luncheon very interesting in many ways, and the guests greatly enjoyed the after luncheon hour when Mrs. McManus explained her work in Los Angeles.

Not that Los Angeles is ahead of Oakland. We too have our nurses in the schools, and our children have physical culture and good care in other ways.

When we try our free clinic it would, of course, be on other lines than those formulated by Los Angeles, nevertheless it is interesting thought for the betterment of poor children.

CHARM OF LIVING IN COUNTRY.

The main charm of having a country place of your own lies in the fact that you may share it with friends. No one wants to spend long, lonely hours all forlorn on a porch, when one might be giving a good time to friends, and enjoying a good time one's self. The "week-end" has become a great vacation time in America, and friends entertain, or are in

Monday. Society is beginning to formulate rules for guidance which eliminates many of the annoyances formerly characteristic of week-end parties. One's hostess tells one definitely at what hour to arrive, and by what train one is expected to take her departure. It is quite as a recent writer says:

"In the old days it was considered the height of ungraciousness for a hostess to suggest to her guests when they should depart. Today it is not only polite but necessary. It is not possible to leave the question open, and the invited friend does not wish to be left in doubt concerning the time she is expected to leave. Time is precious, appointments are as sea sands, society is run like a business, and the hours for doing things must be known well in advance, or it is impossible to take part in them."

No one brings much luggage now on a country visit. There is much common sense in the way people dress. One is considerate about long distance messages, and very careful in the way she treats "the servant in the house." For servants do not yearn for country life, and their faces are forever turned cityward.

And apropos of servants, one of the problems that confronts one, is what is to be done about tips. The hostess may intimate that there are to be no tips. But her guests know better.

One thing is quite certain—one must tip the driver or chauffeur who takes one to the station, and the servant who carries one's boxes.

There is no set rule for the amount of the tip—it would be so much better if there were. One wishes, of course, to reward people who have served one generously, if one could only know how to do it in the proper fashion.

FLOWERS FASHIONABLE IN PARIS.

A few notes from Paris are of interest, and especially those which concern flowers, for we can all be "in the height of fashion" when it is a matter of flowers.

The corsage bouquet which fashion will favor for the next few weeks is to be composed of white sweet peas and sweet peas, which are gaily pink in tone. Of course the mode in corsage bouquets changes with weeks under the stress of garden changes. However, the orchid known as the Purple Cattleya combined with lilies of the valley—one orchid to each bouquet—is never out of season or mode.

And as to "bargain sales," here is the latest and most sensible "cry" regarding them:

"Theoretically, of course, we all keep pace with the latest whirl in the gyrations of Fashion! But as a matter of plain fact there isn't one woman in a thousand that doesn't carry over some gowns from one season to the next. Importers of exclusive models, however, do not share this custom. They are sacrificing everything in sight just now. And women who have never dreamed, or, at least, have never done more than dream, of having a Paris gown can realize that chance now at no greater cost than the price they ordinarily would pay their own modest dressmaker."

"As for the fear that they will find these bargain costumes hopelessly out of style next Fall, that—in spite of all that the Paris designers may do in June and again in August—is hardly likely from the average woman's point of view. She will have plenty of company. It is only a few favorites of Fortune that can afford to discard a dress after a few weeks' service. This hint about bargains—'occasions' is the pleasant name by which our French sister calls them—is for another type of woman."

CURATORS' LUNCHEON AT EBELL CLUB.

con speeches were specially clever, among them being the clever remarks of Mrs. Crockett, who spoke on the "Poetry of Love."

Mrs. Scupham's conundrums were greatly enjoyed, being very clever allusions to the club work. It was one of the brightest and most picturesque luncheons the Ebell Club has had this season.

MARRIAGE ANNIVERSARY DINNER.

One of the elaborate dinners of the week was given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Pease at Summit street, where they celebrated the tenth anniversary of their marriage.

Mrs. Pease was a charming and most attractive study in the lovely wedding dress she wore ten years ago, and she planned every detail of the dinner in a most fascinating manner.

Twenty-four guests, all members of the family, assembled at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Pease for the anniversary dinner, and many good wishes were offered them for happy anniversary down the future.

SERVE TEA AT COUNTRY CLUB.

Two charming young girls, Miss Helen Dunning and Miss Bernice Bromwell were hostesses at a delightful tea at the Claremont Country Club on Friday. The successful "at home" was planned by way of a farewell to Miss Elva Ghirardelli, who leaves in a few days with her mother for Europe. Miss Ghirardelli will be much missed by her young friends, as she is a very popular girl, much loved for her sweet disposition and for her sincere ways. Mrs. Ghirardelli and her daughter are planning to spend a year abroad, and they will make their headquarters in Dresden, where Mrs. Ghirardelli will take apartments. From there they will arrange trips to various parts of the continent. The reception rooms of the Country Club were beautifully decorated and made a charming background for the bright bevy of young visitors. Miss Helen Dunning made a bright study in a lovely gown of white charmeuse, and Miss Bromwell wore an exceedingly handsome gown of yellow, elaborately trimmed in lace. Mrs. William B. Dunning, to whom much of the success of the charming "Tea dante" was due, was gowned in a rich costume of white lace.

Among those who assisted the pretty young hostesses in receiving their guests were:

Mrs. William Dunning, Miss Alice Conners, Mrs. L. L. Bromwell, Miss Betty Denning, Mrs. Charles Allen, Miss Alice Edger, Mrs. Louis Ghirardelli, Miss Alice Palmer, Miss Madeline Chalmers, Miss Margaret Mosely, Miss Edna Schreck, Miss Sophie Green, Mrs. William B. Dunning, Miss Helen Goodall, Miss Juana Ghirardelli.

A large number of guests called during the afternoon, and the tea was one of the very important social dates of the week.

Mrs. Valentine Hush is in Burlington, Vermont, where she has been for some months the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Richardson Wells, (Jean Hush). Mr. and Mrs. Wells have a very handsome home in Burlington, Vermont, not far from the picturesque Lake Champlain. The Wells have their own yacht in which happy days are spent, and nowhere is a holiday more thoroughly enjoyed than in the heart of the Green mountains.

Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Moffitt and their children, Alice and James Moffitt, have sailed for Europe. They spent some days at the Plaza in New York City before sailing, and they were much entertained by friends and relatives there.

London and Lansing Tevis, the twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Tevis, have arrived in New York and are registered at the Ritz Carlton. A hundred thousand dollars' worth of ponies have been sent over from England for the tournament, which is attracting the attention of the world, and polo clubs from every part of the country will be represented at the tournament. ful motor trips. They are making a fine collection of wonderful old furniture and art treasures for the new Italian palace they are building at Uplands, formerly the site of the old-time Crocker home.

General and Mrs. Oscar Long, with the Misses Amy and Sally Long, left on Thursday for the Yosemite Valley, where they will spend part of the summer. They are to be at Camp Ahwahnee, and they are all such fearless riders that they will greatly enjoy life in the valley, especially as they will be able to take the wonderful trails.

Later in the summer Mrs. Isaac Regan will go to Santa Barbara, and she will be accompanied by her grand daughters, the Misses Amy and Sally Long.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Mendell and Miss Louise Javin are planning to take their departure for the East next week, and are going to Durham, New Hampshire, for the summer. Miss Javin made her debut last winter, and she has been one of the most popular of the many debutantes of the year.

AMERICANS AT DUCHESS' BALL.

Among the Americans present at the splendid ball given in Paris by the Duchess de la Rochefoucauld were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Crocker, the Princess Poniatowski, and Louis Brugutere. The hostess was formerly Miss Mattie Mitchell of Washington, and having been in Seattle, she hostess gave a superb cotillon, at which the favors were very elaborate and costly.

The Crockers are coming home on the George Washington, and in New York City will be joined by Miss Helen Crocker, who has been attending school at Baltimore.

THE MEDDLER.

Miss Anna Peters and Miss Edith Rucker of San Francisco will not as through Southern California. They are very enthusiastic motorists, and Mr. MacDermot, who is a skillful driver, is at the wheel of his car over the most difficult roads.

The MacDermots were joined at Paso Robles by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Goodfellow, who came up from their ranch at Fresno. The MacDermots and Goodfellows are planning to motor to Coronado, where they will spend some days.

In the near future Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Jones will close their Piedmont home and will take their departure for the East and Europe. They have arranged a most interesting itinerary and they plan to be absent during the entire summer.

All the Oaklanders who went to Santa Cruz for the golf tournament have returned to town. Everyone is sorry Jack Neville did not win the prize, for he is easily the best golfer on the coast, and one of the five best golf players in the world. It was perfectly absurd to give him such a big handicap, thereby making it practically impossible for him to win the prize. But he won everybody's admiration by his good breeding in accepting conditions. It was sportsmanlike, and there are other tournaments to come.

Miss Josephine Johnson and Miss Helen Dunning were both at Santa Cruz. Miss Johnson was in splendid form and Miss Helen Dunning is hailed as one of the "golf champions" of the future.

VISITOR COMES FROM SANTA BARBARA.

Miss Marguerite Doe has arrived from Santa Barbara, and will spend some days in San Francisco. She is an intimate friend of the Misses Harriet and Marian Stone and will be

A new precedent has been set by Miss Florence Henshaw, who has asked a number of the guests at the wedding of Miss Gladys Wilson and Maurice Sullivan to be her guests at dinner preceding the ceremony, which is to be at 9 o'clock on the evening of June 10, in St. Francis de Sales church. The attendants for the wedding include Mrs. Hiram Johnson Jr. (Amy Fowler) as matron of honor, and Miss Anna Peters, Miss Georgia Creed, Miss Edith Rucker and Miss Mignon Wilson as bridesmaids. John Young will be best man and the ushers will be Walter Leimert, Seya Havens, George Bowles and Frederic Frost.

CARDS FOR BRIDGE.

Mrs. Robert Hildard Collins has sent out cards for a "carden bridge" at her beautiful country home, the Mulford ranch, near San Leandro. Over a hundred of the bay cities smart set have been bidden to the affair, which will be one of the socially important functions of the closing season. SAYS CANADA WILL PAY FOR DREADNOUGHTS

OTTAWA, Ont., June 7.—Premier Borden announced in the House of Commons yesterday that the Canadian government would pay for the three battleships which the British admiralty desires to construct after the Canadian Senate had rejected the Canadian naval aid bill. The bill sought to appropriate $30,000,000 to meet the cost of three dreadnoughts. Mr. Borden intimated that by the time the three battleships were ordered the government would have a majority in the Senate and the naval bill would be presented again and passed.

A warm debate followed in which Sir Wilfrid Laurier challenged the premier to go to the people on the naval issue.

DOCTOR CABLES TO TREAT PATIENT

Physician Stricken and Operator Comes to Rescue With Wire.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—How a patient was doctoring 2000 miles away from his physician was related by W. B. Rutherford and S. Vickers, employees of the British Cable Company, who arrived from Honolulu yesterday on the steamship Sierra. The patient was Dr. Herbert Metcalfe, resident surgeon at Panning Island, who died three days after he became ill.

With a score of Europeans, including five married couples, Rutherford as electrician and Vickers as operator, were on the Sierra when the lone surgeon of the place was stricken with convulsions.

No one knew how to doctor him and when Vickers cabled the situation to Fiji, the operator there explained that the doctor would give him the wire.

During the next three days Vickers sent hourly bulletins to Fiji and received medical advice, which was carefully followed at Panning.

Dr. Metcalfe is the first European to die on the island, his comrades buried him.

"We received no mail for nine months," said Vickers. "Our provisions ran short so we were compelled to live on a few simple native fruits. We wore few clothes and for three years did not wear any shoes. Rutherford has been transferred to Vancouver while I am here on leave of absence."

PASTOR INVOLVED IN DIVORCE CASE

Rev. Winthrop Said to Have Courted Wife of Oil Fields' Operator.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Charles E. Knapp, an oil fields operator now employed in the southern part of the state, but formerly residing at Halfmoon Bay, died in an unexpected manner, according to a complaint against Sarah Ann Knapp, wife of the County Clerk yesterday, in which he accused the deceased of one of the Halfmoon Bay congregations of having broken up his home.

Mrs. Knapp is charged, "kept company with a certain minister by the name of Winthrop," formerly an incumbent of one of the Halfmoon Bay pulpits, "until it became a public scandal."

A climax was reached in the domestic drama "one stormy night" when Knapp insisted that the wife remain at home. But she, it is alleged, insisted upon going out with "Winthrop," Knapp told her, he says, that if she did so he would not let her in the house again that night. It is alleged that she went and failed to return until the following day.

After that the minister resigned, but continued to live for two months at Halfmoon Bay. Then he moved to Paradise City, about eight miles away. Knapp declares that when he was away from home the minister continued to call on his wife, and wrote many "love letters" to her.

ETHEL CROCKER MAKES PARIS BOW AT BRILLIANT SOCIETY FUNCTION

PARIS, June 7.—At a brilliant society ball, of which all fashionable Paris is talking, the Princess Poniatowski last night presented her niece, Miss Ethel Crocker of San Francisco.

Miss Crocker has been in Europe for nearly a year devoting her time to music and voice study. Her interest in her music has been a constant one, but with the introduction which was accorded to her last night, her remaining days in Paris doubtless will be the best of her life.

The Princess Poniatowski, who is a sister of Mrs. William H. Crocker, Miss Crocker's aunt, is a Polish noblewoman.

Her home at 6 Avenue Hoche has been the scene of numerous social gatherings, but at none has there been a more select or notable assemblage of Parisian and foreign guests than at last night's ball which marked the launching of Miss Crocker.

Mrs. William H. Crocker accompanied her daughter, who at the time of her debut in Paris was only 17 years of age.

There are whispers that the Princess Poniatowski is desirous of seeing her attractive young niece marry a French nobleman.

Among the dancers who participated in the "normal" concert of Miss Crocker were the Duke of Gramont, the Countess de Gaillet, the Count de Grouchy, Baron and Baroness de Berckheim, Marquis de Lons-Grandjeu, Countess de Presenrot, Countess de Montigny, Count and Countess de d'Armon, Prince de la Tour d'Auvergne, Prince Ruspoli, Baroness de Taubert, Count A. de Pourtales and Count de Durfort.

SAN FRANCISCO BELLE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Miss Crocker was one of the belles of San Francisco society after her debut a season ago. A beautifully-planned ball to which several hundred guests were asked, was given to mark the advent of Miss Crocker into the smart set here.

New Place, the palatial country home of the Crockers, was the scene of the ball, which also marked the formal opening of the handsome new home.

Miss Crocker has given only a part of her time to society in California. She has spent much of her time abroad studying with Dr. Keeser, and while at home she has pursued her music assiduously.

She will return to San Francisco with her mother later in the summer.

Mrs. Putnam gave a sketch of the work of Robert Morris in his translation of the Chinese language. Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Ella Newsome.

LONDON DIVORCE CASE PROMISES SENSATION

LONDON, June 7.—A divorce petition which was filed in High Court yesterday created a sensation in political and society circles, not only because of the prominence of the principals, but also because of the likelihood that David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, will be unwillingly brought into the case.

The petitioner is Hubert William Culling Carr Gomm, M. P., who asks a divorce from the daughter of the late William Rome of Liverpool on the ground of misconduct with Elliot Crawshaw Williams, M. P., who is a well-known politician and secretary to Lloyd-George. All the parties are friendly with Lloyd-George and have frequently been his guests at Downing street and Carnarvon. Wales and the "Chancellor" unsuccessfully tried to prevent the case from coming into court.

Some Women in the News

MISS MAY ETHERIDGE, WHOSE ENGAGEMENT TO LORD EDWARD FITZGERALD ADDS ANOTHER BETROTHAL TO A LONG STAGE-PEERAGE LIST.

SHE'LL WED BRITISH PEER ACTRESS TO TAKE TITLE

LONDON, June 7.—There are betrothals and betrothals, but that which includes a peer as one half of it means much. Miss May Etheridge, actress, discovered that yesterday when she received seven offers of theatrical engagements—and at her own salary.

The actress, who is engaged to Lord Edward Fitzgerald, brought about the flood. She was worth a lot as a stage attraction before this; now her value has trebled, but she calmly dropped the seven offers into a waste basket and let them go at that.

Miss Etheridge was, until recently, playing at the Shaftesbury theatre, London. Lord Edward Fitzgerald is a brother of the Duke of Leinster, was educated at Eton, and was formerly in the Irish Guards. Miss Etheridge and her fiancé are both twenty-one years of age.

Death Recalls Sensation

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 7.—Mrs. Annie Nuckols, wife of the former racing king, died of an attack of heart failure yesterday.

A report was circulated about the fashionable neighborhood that Mrs. Nuckols had ended her life with poison, but this is denied most emphatically.

About five months ago Mrs. Nuckols gained much notoriety during the sensational divorce suit brought by W. Preston Nuckols. Nuckols was granted a divorce and by agreement of counsel it was decided to place their two children, Muriel and Preston Jr., in a convent near Philadelphia. When the deputy sheriff appeared at the house to get the children Mrs. Nuckols gave him a tremendous and spiteful "Muriel" away. Both children were subsequently secured and placed in the institution.

A month ago Mrs. Nuckols created another sensation by kidnapping her little daughter from the institution and keeping her in hiding for several days.

There's Romance Here

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—A mother's ambition for the career of her daughter is said to have placed a damper on a romance involving Miss Helen Mills and Chester B. Noyes, a young business man of this city, according to the story related by passengers on the Oceanic liner Sierra, arriving yesterday morning from Honolulu. Mrs. Easton Mills of San Luis Obispo and her daughter, who is a grandniece of the late D. O. Mills and a cousin of Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, were travelers on the steamer.

The man mentioned in the case was at the Elbert-street wharf bright and early yesterday morning to meet Mrs. Mills and the attractive southern California girl, and who, it is rumored with equal persistence, is no little interested in him.

The tale of romance had its inception when all three were passengers on the liner Wilhelmshafen. Noyes is described by Mrs. Mills and her daughter as a "friend of the family" and this also is the gallant young man's explanation of the situation. But the fact remained, said Dame Gossip, that there was a deep-seated understanding between the young couple, with which the mother was not at all in accord.

Noyes, who returned from Honolulu a few days ago, was warmly greeted at the gangway by his friends, and the passengers, who had sensed a romance, watched them with interest as they gayly departed from the wharf in a taxicab.

During the Sierra's voyage Miss Mills, a dashing brunette, occupied a prominent part in the program of social events. Her rich contralto voice charmed fellow passengers to such an extent that she was the object of constant attention.

Cares Naught for Hoodoo

GREENWICH, Conn., June 7.—Adele Richie, the actress, who leased the J. K. Barry farm here last year and has since been farming it alone, and Charles N. Bell, a Fifth avenue importer, are to be married at Apple Jack farm here on Friday, the 13th, 1913, at the thirteenth hour of the day. It is a coincidence only that the girls thirteen appear often, but after discovering the fact Miss Richie decided she says, to prove her disbelief in hoodoo and stick to her original plan. The date was set because on that day Miss Marian Kink will return from Vasa Marie Convent in West Chester and is to be maid of honor. Miss Richie said today:

"I'm not marrying money and I'm not going to quit the stage. It is to be a quiet family wedding, but, of course, I shall dress in British style. I don't know just who to invite but I'll do it informally. I'm afraid I shall blush when I go to the Town Clerk to get my license, for I will have to say I'm 36 years old."

Raves of American Beauty

PARIS, June 7.—Paul Hellet, the noted artist yesterday declared the American woman to be the most beautiful in the world.

"Not only are the American women the most beautiful in the world, but in that country are to be found vast numbers of beauties. I found beauty as common among the middle classes and the poor persons as I did in Fifth avenue. The shop girl beauty is just as noticeable as the society beauty."

"I found the American women very intelligent, spiritual, witty and companionable."

Bernhardt Is Delighted

PARIS, June 7.—Sarah Bernhardt, actress, who is in Paris yesterday and was apparently not in the least fatigued by her long tour of America. She held an impromptu reception and greeted many of her friends. Following dinner she drove to her own theater, where she attended a performance of "Le Bossu." Mme. Bernhardt speaks with enthusiasm of her recent tour, and says that whenever she visits America the number of French teachers in the country seems to have doubled and the number of French books sold tripled.

GET ACQUAINTED WITH CHILDREN

By LILLIAN RUSSELL
(Copyrighted, 1913, by Lillian Russell.)

HOW many mothers and big sisters today who, asked questions by the children of the family, will say: "You are too little to understand?" And how many realize that to save themselves a little effort are shirking one of the greatest responsibilities of their lives? Children are not to be put off with rebuffs without they suffer for it. Children are worthy of elucidation upon any subject which interests them, for once interested, they will seek an answer to their questions until they find it. They may seek until they find the wrong answer—one that is injurious. So exercise intelligence and good judgment. The child is capable of understanding. The child brain is more active than that of the adult. The child performs a wonderful task when he is little more than a year old. He learns a language. A child accomplishes, gradually, he learns a language.

So do not ignore the child mind. Train it, giving it the benefit of all your experiences. Temper your training with good, sound judgment in all matters concerning the child—and the result cannot be but a splendid one. The fact that a child may be wrongly taught is proof of the great necessity of keeping constant vigilance and taking the greatest of pains so that he will be rightly taught. For wrong will find no dwelling place in the home of right. It is a surprising truth that many parents in this enlightened age begin training a child for a certain vocation before he has had time to display his natural gifts or inclinations. As well might a gardener promise a bouquet of a specific color of flowers from a certain plant before that plant even has formed buds. A gardener would be regarded as foolish if he made such promise. How much more foolish, then, is he who anticipates the blossom of life before seeing the bud of youth. This habit of ignoring the child—of thinking for him and not with him—has lost to the world as great geniuses as are today named among the immortals. It has lost them to the world by taking from the path to which they were born and sending them, at early age, into strange, unlearnable forests. So get acquainted with the child. Take him seriously, for childhood is the most serious time of life; paradoxical as this may sound. Remember, there are innumerable more possibilities in the child of 4 than in the greatest of men at four score—so seek out and acquaint yourself with those possibilities.

Answers to Queries

MRS. W.—If the loose part put in a corset properly it can be adjusted with far greater ease. The way to lace a corset is to lay it with the inside on the table, then put in the lace at the top, bring up each tag through the next hole from underneath the corset; the next time the lace must go through the hole from above—outside the corset toward the table. If you repeat the words "under," "over" every time you cannot go wrong. This is convenient when lacing, as the corset can be made loose or tight much easier than when the laces stick and will not pull freely.

AN ADMIRER—I am delighted to know my article has helped you. Unless you have some chronic ailment it is much easier to put on flesh than to take it off. Get plenty of fresh air, eat nourishing foods, avoid all trying work, sleep all you can and don't worry. It isn't necessary to follow a strict diet, but drink milk instead of tea or coffee. If you care for it I shall be glad to send you a dietary for gaining flesh upon receipt of a stamped addressed envelope.

D. E. C.—If you are a girl you can cover the defect of protruding ears by pressing your hair over your ears. The only way to remedy this trouble is to tie a cloth over them at night, holding them back close to the head. In time this will gradually make them stay back. This is, of course, slow, and it will take some time to get the desired effects, but in order to succeed one must have patience and be persistent.

ANXIOUS—Ointment of the hair at the roots is sometimes caused by a tight scalp. When the scalp becomes adherent to the underlying bones it prevents proper nourishment and keeps the oil from being evenly distributed. Scalp massage will remedy this trouble. Do not wash your hair often than once a month. Massage the scalp each night, using a tonic. I shall be glad to send instructions for scalp massage, also a tonic and shampoo for oily hair. If you will send me a stamped addressed envelope.

ANXIOUS INQUIRER—It is always hard to cleanse the face when one is traveling. Soap and water will not always remove the soot and grime from the skin. The only way to cleanse the face on the train is by the use of a good cleansing cream. The cream will remove the dirt from the face more thoroughly than soap and water. I shall be glad to send you a formula for an excellent cleansing cream. If you will send me a stamped addressed envelope.

BRUNETTE—There is positively nothing that will restore the hair to its natural color. The only thing you can do is to use a dye on it. I do not advise the use of dyes. If you really wish to dye your hair I would advise you to go to a reliable beauty shop and have it done by an expert in this line.

BOY ATHLETES TO COME HERE FOR EXPOSITION

NEW YORK, June 7.—Ten thousand boys of the New York public schools shared honors with Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and Vincent Astor at a physical training and athletic demonstration on the playing green in Central Park yesterday afternoon. The demonstration was participated in by teams from all five boroughs and was held under the auspices of the Public School Athletic League.

NOONDAY CONCERT ADDS $50 TO FUNDS

The noonday concert given by the boys of the Oakland high school for the benefit of the "Big O" baseball team, several days ago in Chabot Hall, netted $50 to the treasury. The candy sale, which was conducted by the Associated Young Women Students of the Oakland High School, added $29 to that sum. Edward Garthwaite, a member of the senior class, was chairman of the concert committee.

The program which contributed to the musical program were: Edith Ames, Kenneth Fox, Main Langstroth, Hal Barker, Winfield Rue, Art White, Charles Cowan and John McMahon.

The cloral classes of the Oakland High School gave a recital last Thursday in Chabot hall, where talented singers appeared at the entertainment. They were Helen Gier, Barbara Miller, Doris Hoyt, Myrtle Marshall, Lillian Wolff and Mary Finger.

Bareheaded Man Who Terrorized Mrs. Mary Johnston Flees Into Forest.

Lurks Behind the Rocks and Leaps Upon Woman as Night Approaches.

FRUITVALE, June 7.—Mrs. Mary Johnston, a resident of the Diamond district of Fruitvale, reports being terrorized by a wild man, who made his appearance in the neighborhood of Redwood Peak Thursday evening, and who has so far avoided capture.

In relating her experience to Constable T. Carroll, Mrs. Johnston said that about dusk on that evening, as she made her way home and when in the vicinity of the peak, a strange man suddenly popped up from behind a rock, at the same time giving vent to wild yell. Jumping up from behind his hiding place in the rocks, the uncouth stranger, who was bareheaded, but smartly dressed, ran in Mrs. Johnston's direction. Mrs. Johnston fled in terror of her life, but the man rapidly gained on her. She reached the main road safely, and here the pursuer gave up the chase, and retreated to the hills.

Constable Carroll, on being notified of the presence of a terrorist in the hills, at once set out in pursuit. As the constable approached Redwood peak the strange man, who had evidently been on the watch in hiding, made off down Redwood canyon. Although Constable Carroll gave chase and fired three shots after the runaway, he failed to effect a capture, and the wild man, who was fleet of foot, gained the shelter of the woods. Carroll continued the search for over an hour, but was unable to find any trace of the stranger. Mystery surrounds the identity of the man, and the constable is of the opinion that he may be another "Jack the Hopper."

Mrs. Johnston suffered considerably from nervous shock as a result of her adventure, especially as she almost fell into the clutches of the terrorist. She was, however, able to give Carroll a description of her pursuer, and a close search was made today of the district in the vicinity of Redwood Peak. No further trace, however, has been found of the terrorist.

ILLINOIS VICE INQUIRY RESUMES

Chicago University President Takes Stand; Has No Remedy for Inefficient.

CHICAGO, June 7.—When the Illinois Senatorial vice and minimum wage commission resumed its quest for light on the relation of low wages to vice today, Harry Pratt Judson, president of the University of Chicago, was called as a witness.

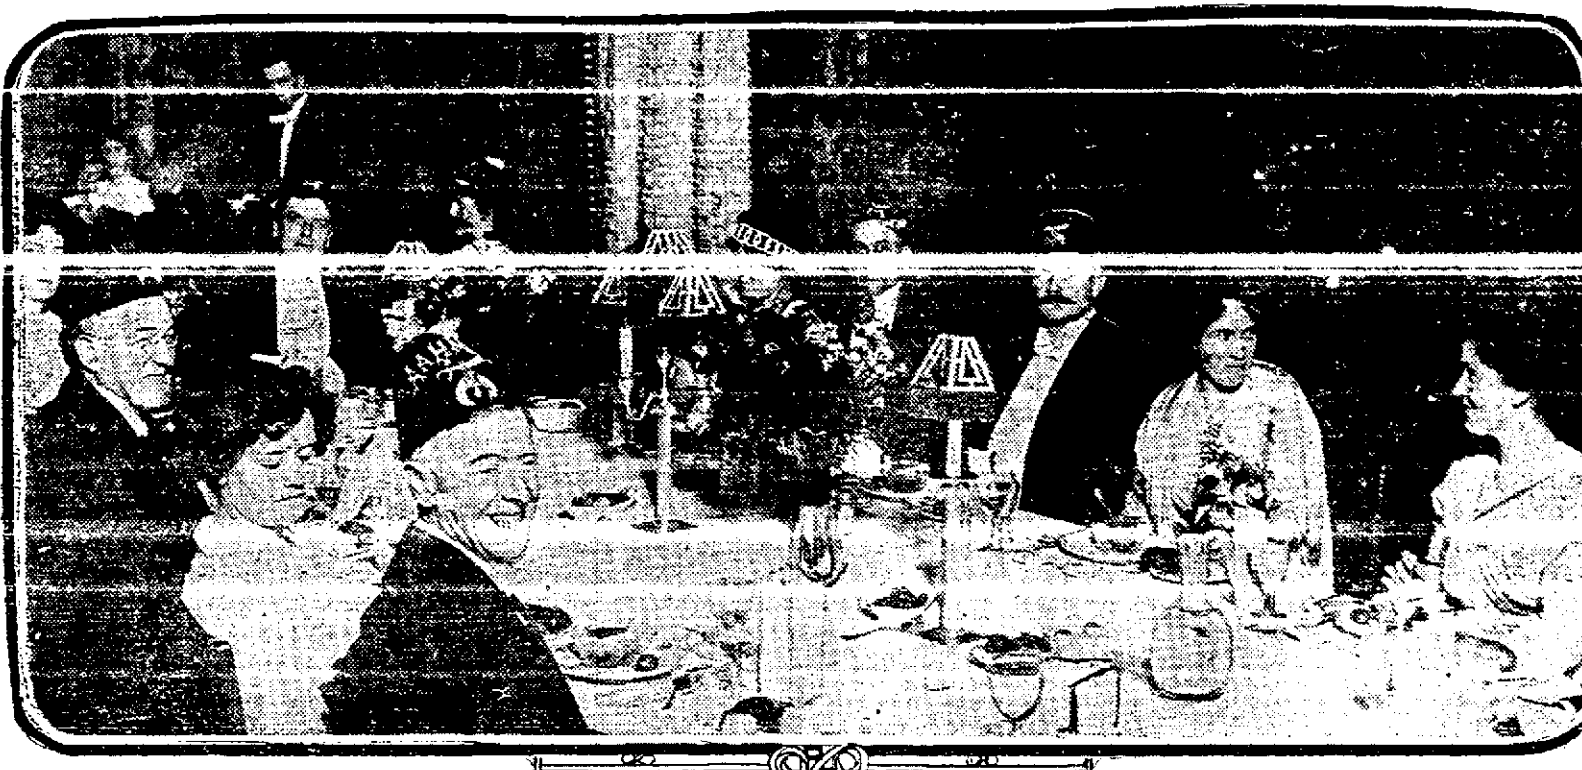

Most college graduates enter business, the witness said, and were soon thereafter financially able to marry. "And what becomes of the girl graduates?" asked Chairman O'Hara. "I am happy to say that most of them marry," replied the educator. O'Hara wanted to know whether the law should provide a minimum wage for minimum efficiency. The witness arranged workers into three classes, efficient, semi-efficient and inefficient. "Efficient men will earn more than any law can provide," said Dr. Judson. "For the semi-efficient we might provide industrial training." The witness had no remedy for the inefficient.

Wife of Horticulturist Says He Beat Her With Knotted Towel.

Whether the knotted end of a knotted towel had been utilized by Hugo L. Lilienthal, an horticulturist of Berkeley, in punishing his wife Charlotte Lilienthal, or merely the loose end, was a question that arose during the trial of their divorce before Superior Judge Harris yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Lilienthal sued her husband, alleging cruelty among other things. He filed a cross-complaint denying the charges. During the proceedings it developed that Mrs. Lilienthal had sent her mother a postcard saying that she was married to a Mr. Chamberlain, when she had not married at all. Questioning of her husband's attorney brought out the fact that she had kept house for two different men after she separated from her husband.

Lilienthal is a number of years the senior of his wife and became acquainted with her while she was secretary of the Junior Horticultural Society of Alameda county, founded by Lilienthal. The case was continued for the taking of additional testimony. May Dix has sued Edward Dix, alleging that her husband failed to provide a physician for her while she was ill. Anna Graham sued Arthur Graham, claiming that he slapped her face and called her names. Divorce complaints have been filed by Emma A. Hart against William Hart, alleging desertion, and by Charles H. Meyer against Annie Meyer on the same ground.

AAHMES TEMPLE IS HOST;
AFFAIR BRILLIANT SUCCESS

Nobles of Shrine Celebrate Return of Delegates at Hotel Oakland

Aahmes Temple of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine was host last evening at one of the most elaborate functions which have marked the social season of 1913. The Hotel Oakland provided a brilliant setting for the banquet, reception and dance in honor of the delegates recently returned from the convention at Dallas, Tex. Frank W. Bilger, illustrious potentate; George S. Meredith, chief rabban, and Ben O. Johnson, Aahmes representative to the imperial divan, were among those specially honored.

The banquet in the Renaissance grillroom opened the evening auspiciously with several hundred nobles of the shrine and their ladies seated about the tables, which were decked in the blue and gold of the order, and bore dainty favors for each guest. A touch of exotic color was added to the scene by the members of the Aahmes Arab patrol and the shrine band in their Oriental uniform of blue and gold silk and high twisted turbans of blue and gold.

B. A. Forsterer was the toastmaster of the evening, introducing the delegates and prominent members of the shrine, who responded to toasts. The speakers were Frank W. Bilger, Otto Riehl, Robert Greig, George Meredith, George P. Foye, A. M. Allison and L. E. Westrich.

TELL OF VISIT.
The delegates to the convention spoke of their visit to the imperial council and of the work accomplished while there. Other speakers told of the work and aims of the Shrine's branch of the Masonic order in this city.

The handsome clubrooms in the east wing of the hotel were thrown open to the guests after the banquet, and the band rendered several selections during the reception in the clubrooms, after which the guests adjourned to the ivory ballroom, where an excellent orchestra furnished music with which to tread the measure of the dance until after midnight. The handsome and colorful costumes of the women guests made a stunning picture under the brilliant lights of the ballroom and the gold and blue Turkish costumes of the patrol gave an original note of Eastern atmosphere to the delightful function.

FAMED FOR HOSPITALITY.
Aahmes Temple has become known for its social successes at a number of elaborate planned entertainments, and that of last night was a worthy successor to those which took place during the earlier season. A higher standard than ever before was set by the banquet and dance at which large numbers of nobles and their ladies were royally entertained by the lavish hospitality of Aahmes.

The guests at the function included a number of the social-elect from all the bay cities, including Oakland, San Francisco, Berkeley, Alameda, San Mateo and San Jose.

LEONARD STONE
JAILED BY WIFE

Ex-Registrar and Lawyer Is Charged With Failure to Provide.

Leonard Stone, former registrar of the Hastings Law College, and now practicing law in San Francisco, was arrested in the district attorney's office last evening on a charge preferred by his wife, Mrs. Jessamine Horton-Witt, of failure to provide for their two minor daughters, Ruth and Marion Stone. He was committed to the county jail, where he is being held under $2000 bail. The warrant was issued by Assistant District Attorney Phil M. Carey, after he had heard the story of Mrs. Stone.

Stone declared that he had done the best he could, but that he had found the practice of law productive of but little income. His wife said that she had urged him to take up some other work, but that he had refused.

"He would not listen to me when I made suggestions of other means to earn a livelihood, and I have made up my mind that he will have to support the children," said Mrs. Stone.

The Stones reside at 81 Echo avenue.

STATE MONEY
HELD UP BY DECISION

Special Appropriation Funds Will Not Be Available Until August.

More Than Million Involved in Ruling Given by the Court.

SACRAMENTO, June 7.—The Third District Court of Appeal today ruled against the State Engineer and with the State Controller in the case affecting the special appropriation bills passed by the Legislature and containing emergency clauses by holding that those in which was included the provision "For the usual current expenses of the state" could not become effective immediately.

By this ruling the bill appropriating $15,000 for the transportation of the veterans of the battle of Gettysburg for the fiftieth anniversary and reunion to be held during the first week of next month, is killed.

The other appropriations affected by the opinion in the case of the petition of State Engineer McClure include those for improvements at Chico State Normal, Fresno State Normal, California Polytechnic school, Preston School of Industry at Lone and Mendocino State Hospital.

In all of these cases, however, the only harm done will be in delay, because the appropriations will be available in August. Approximately $1,360,000 is involved in the decision rendered by the court. One other appropriation which will be destroyed is that for the California exhibit at the exposition at Ghent, Belgium.

BALKAN PEACE
MAY BREAK INTO WAR

Report That Nations Will Demand Demobilization of Armies Disturbing.

Russia Believed to Be Behind Demand Which Allies May Refuse.

LONDON, June 7.—King George entertained the peace delegates of the Balkan states and of Turkey at luncheon at Buckingham Palace today to celebrate the signing of the treaty of peace.

The situation in the near east, however, is threatening.

The report comes from Constantinople, but lacks official confirmation, that the European powers on the initiative of Russia have decided to demand demobilization of the Turkish and Balkan armies in order to insure peace. The Russian government is said to hold the opinion that no sane course is possible to them unless the two-thirds of their armies should be demobilized.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 7.—It is reported that several of the European powers have instructed their embassies and legations to take collective steps here and in the Balkan's capital to demand the demobilization of the respective armies.

BULGARIA SUSPECTED.

LONDON, June 7.—The confirmation of the resignation of the Bulgarian cabinet has caused anxiety at Belgrade and at Athens, where the feeling is growing that Bulgaria is tampering with her force and brought up against Greece and Serbia.

If the resignation of the ministry took place before the interview at Tzaribrod on the Bulgarian frontier between the Bulgarian and Serbian premiers, the agreement between them would be without authority and the proposed meeting between ten four Balkan premiers said to have been set for next Sunday probably will not take place.

The Greek delegates attended the peace conference yesterday, but the Turks remained at home and refused to agree to the terms of the protocol. The delegates, however, reached an agreement on the following point:

To grant full amnesty to all non-combatants in the late war for a period of three years; to allow Ottomanians living in Bulgaria to arrange to emigrate if they desire to retain their Turkish nationality, and to resume postal and telegraphic communication between Turkey and Bulgaria.

BUILT HOPES ON STOCK TICKER WHICH LIED LIKE AN EPITAPH

CHICAGO, June 7.—A breathless, perspiring friend of Lieutenant Governor O'Hara appeared yesterday at the hearing on the Senate welfare committee and asserted he had some important information to impart. The lieutenant governor stepped outside the room.

"Mr. O'Hara," said the man, "if you get the power will you appoint me on this commission?" naming a well-paying state office.

"The governor appoints the man who fills that place; I have nothing to do with it," O'Hara replied.

"But if you will get the power to get the job?"

"I will," said the visitor, "I've got it now. It's said, but Governor Dunne dropped dead a few minutes ago."

Mr. O'Hara at once telegraphed to the capital and learned that the governor was in excellent health.

The rumor was traced to a stock ticker, which announced the death of a politician, his recent appointment by Governor Dunne—the sentence ending with the cause of death.

PRACTICE RATING FOR VESSELS MADE

Maryland Attains First Place Among the Big Warships.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The individual ratings of the war vessels in the navy department. The cruiser Maryland, with a merit percentage of 82.2 per cent, attained first place among the vessels, according to Lieutenant Commander T. T. Craven, director of target practice and engineering competitions. The Minnesota finished nineteenth and last with a standing of 32.351. The four vessels next to the Maryland and their standing were the Rhode Island, 71.974; Idaho, 70.352; Virginia, 71.952; New Hampshire, 64.074.

The scores this spring are materially higher than those of last year in practically all forms of target practice, said Commander Craven. "This improvement is due to the establishment of definite schedules for progressive training, permitting better preparation for the various exercises. The performance of the older ships has been particularly gratifying."

LIMITATIONS OF A TOOTH BRUSH

Ask your dentist if the toothbrush alone will maintain the absolute cleanliness which is necessary to keep the teeth and mouth free from disease.

He will tell you "No."

The crevices between the teeth and the junction of the gums furnish hiding places for the bacteria of decay.

They are out of the bristles' reach and you could not more dislodge them with a tooth brush than you could clear your carpet with a rake.

The tooth brush is indispensable to mouth cleanliness; but it should be supplemented with a reliable antiseptic mouth wash and gargle, which will bubble into crevices, rooting out and destroying disease-producing bacteria and such decaying matter as the brush fails to remove.

The best antiseptic to use is LISTOGEN. It goes farther than Peroxide of Hydrogen by uniting with that most efficient germ destroyer the remedial and antiseptic properties of Thymol, Menthol and Eucalyptol.

These valuable elements take up the work where Peroxide of Hydrogen leaves off and with their help LISTOGEN not only destroys the germ, but in some degree repairs the damage that has been done.

Ask your druggist for LISTOGEN. You will delight in the purifying, refreshing sensation that it gives. 25 cts., 50 cts. and $1 a bottle at The Owl Drug Co. stores.

ILLINOIS SETTLES WITH SPAULDING

State Agrees to Give Ex-Convict $10,000 and Deed to Idaho Lands.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 7.—A settlement in the case of Charles W. Spaulding, former treasurer of the University of Illinois, was effected yesterday when the representative of the state agreed to give him $10,000 cash and deeds to a tract of Idaho land.

Spaulding was convicted of embezzling funds of the state university and was sent to the penitentiary. The state then instituted suit against him and secured a judgment for $231,000 and Spaulding turned over to the state notes, stocks, and bonds and a tract of land in Idaho.

The governor, state treasurer, state auditor and attorney general were named a commission to handle the estate. When Spaulding gained his release from prison, he instituted suits against state officials who had served on the commission, declaring that if the estate had been properly managed it would have been able to pay him over the $231,000 judgment against him. He asked a refund of notes and other securities turned over to the state and a monetary refund of $250,000.

AMATEUR WIRELESS MEN ARE LIABLE TO ARREST

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—Uncle Sam proposes to make an example of the 700 or more amateur wireless operators on the Pacific coast who have neglected to apply for licenses to run their apparatus. All who do not apply by July 1, giving the location and description of their plants, will be subject to fines of $500 and the confiscation of their apparatus.

Radio Inspector R. B. Woolverton said yesterday that the Department of Commerce had been trying since December 13 last, to get the amateur operators to register, but had met with indifferent success. A large number of operators had applied for blanks, but had not filled them out, evidently being under the impression that the matter had been dropped by the federal officials.

"They haven't shown the proper attitude," said Woolverton yesterday. "The Department of Commerce, in consideration of the novelty of the law, has allowed considerable time to elapse, but its patience is exhausted. No further written to 550 amateurs and will send more letters immediately."

LUMBER YARDS TIED UP. BUREKA, June 7.—Owing to a strike among the train crews of the Pacific Lumber Company, which operates two mills at Scotia, thirty-eight miles from Eureka, receipts of lumber at their shipping point, Field's Landing, have been very light since the strike is settled.

The strike is settled, and the loading of the many steam schooners lying at the wharves and in the bays of the redwood cargoes will become a difficult problem.

ELKS TO TRAVEL ON OWN STEAMER

Members of Oakland Lodge to Journey to Hawaii in February.

Two hundred Oakland Elks will "own" one of the largest and newest Pacific steamers next February when they visit Hawaii—at least they will own it during the trip of twenty-one days, according to a contract signed yesterday with the Elms-Hall Tourist Company.

This is one of the most extensive and ambitious trips ever planned by such an organization.

The voyage will be to Hawaii and return, the time on the water being two weeks with a one week stay in Honolulu. The vessel to be used has not as yet been decided upon but it is whispered that the new 14,000 ton steamship Matsonia, now being completed for the Matson Navigation Company, will be the one used.

On the heels of the announcement that all differences had been patched up and that the proposed secession of a part of the members of the First Baptist church would not occur, the sensational allegations with which the directorate of the First Baptist church has confronted the pastor, Dr. Claude Kelly, came like a bombshell into church circles here today.

Dr. Kelly, following the publicity which his affairs received as a result, announced that he will not resign, but that he will denounce from his pulpit on Sunday the enemies who, he says, "are no other purpose than to ruin him."

ENGLAND PRAISES PAGE'S UTTERANCES

Appreciation of Ambassador's Friendly Talk Is Expressed.

LONDON, June 7.—Walter Hines Page, the American ambassador to the court of St. James, is complimented in editorials appearing in the evening newspapers today on his first speech in England, made last night at the banquet given in his honor by the Pilgrims Society.

The writers express pleasure that he devoted his speech to cementing the bonds of friendship between the two countries.

The Westminster Gazette says: "Ambassador Page's speech showed that the United States has succeeded in sending an ambassador who is more than capable of maintaining the traditional reputation of his office for public speaking. Nothing could have been happier than the note he struck in his first public utterances."

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "The speech was a masterpiece of diplomatic and pleasant words."

The Evening Standard says: "It is good to see the power of the friendly feeling existing between the two nations thus recognized."

"Lonesome Town" to Bring Suit Against Two Actors

LOS ANGELES, June 7.—Papers have been prepared by the city authorities of Watts, Los Angeles county, and will be filed Monday against Kolb and Dill, the German comedians now appearing here in a skit which they call "Lonesome Town," asking $25,000 damages because of alleged injury done to the little city because of the comedians' jokes. The business men of Watts claim that the remarks perpetrated by the showmen at the expense of their town has injured the sale of bonds and made Watts the butt of jokes and jibes for all classes.

An injunction will also be asked restraining Kolb and Dill from continuing the skit "Lonesome Town," it being alleged that the title is a slander on Watts and does the place an injustice.

It is necessary to clear the title before a $10,000 mortgage held by S. Luer can be foreclosed.

FRIEDMANN CURE DUBBED FAILURE

Clinical Analysis Shows No Improvement in Patients' Condition.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The first clinical analysis of the conditions of any of the Friedmann patients treated in this country is published in today's Medical Record. The results show that some are worse and that the disease has not checked in a single case.

The report is made by Dr. George Mannheimer and is detailed in respect to the nature of the patient's tubercular affliction, the symptoms subsequent to the Friedmann treatment and their present condition.

The eighteen patients whose cases are described were the first to be treated here. Dr. Mannheimer reports the Friedmann treatment in their cases to be conducted. The clinic was held in March 6 and 8.

Twelve of the cases were pulmonary and the rest surgical.
